Alert Patrolman Foils Alleged Car Thieves

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

The alert action of Antioch Ptlm. James Foerster has foiled a ring of alleged juvenile car thieves who confessed to the unlawful entry of over 30 cars in the last month in the Antioch, Lindenhurst, and Kenosha areas.

Foerster, aware of the rash of car burglaries, was patrolling Longview Dr. on the night of July 7 with his lights off when he noticed a car in front of 549 Longview Dr. with its door open and dome light on. As he stopped to investigate, a lady opened the door and told him that someone had just been in the car.

The culprit, by this time, had left the car so Foerster began checking other vehicles in the area. He found a 14-year-old boy hiding on the floor boards of one of the cars. Antioch Police Sgt. Watkins, who lives on that section of Longview, assisted Foerster in arresting the subject.

When taken to the station for interrogation, the juvenile confessed to Lt. Tom Fisher that he and three friends, one who is 14 and two who are 15, had been responsible for over 30 car thefts that have plagued Antioch, Lindenhurst, and Kenosha County since June 6.

The boys allegedly stole some cars and dumped them in fields, returned some others, and simply stole valuables out of some.

At press time, Antioch police had recovered well over $1,000 worth of merchandise that had been stolen out of the cars, and are still collecting more. The boys confessed to stealing stereos, cameras, coin boxes, and other items of value that were left sitting in the cars.

Juvenile petitions have been filed against the four, who have been released to their parents custody pending an initial hearing in juvenile court. They face charges of theft, auto theft, and criminal damage to property. One of the juveniles faces 40 counts. They could be adjudicated wards of the court.

The boys parents were unaware of the alleged spree because when the boys went out for joyrides, they told their parents that they were staying at one another's houses. According to Fisher, the juveniles said they did it because "there was nothing else to do at that time of night."

In addition to charges filed by the Antioch Police Dept., the children will face separate charges from the Lindenhurst Police and the Kenosha County Sheriff's Dept.

Fisher said that none of the children had any record of prior problems.

Big Turnout Expected For Pet Parade

Kids are signing up in record numbers for the annual Pet and Bicycle Parade in Antioch, scheduled for Saturday, July 19, in Williams Park. The parade is sponsored by the Antioch News-Reporter, the State Bank of Antioch, Meta's Candies, Here's the Scoop, and Awards by Kaydan.

The line-up at Williams Park will begin at 10 a.m. and the parade will run from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. All told, 12 first place awards will be given in various categories.

Children will be divided into the junior division, for those seven and under, and the senior division for children between the ages of eight and 13. There will be six categories of competition per division: three each for pets and bicycles.

Children are invited to enter their pets into the most unusual, best groomed, or funniest categories. Bicycle riders may compete in the most patriotic, most unusual, and most humorous categories. Children may only enter one category in either the pet or bicycle competition. They may not compete in both sections.

All children who compete will get a certificate and will receive Gummi Bears from Meta's and a scoop of ice cream from Here's the Scoop. The sponsors promise to have something for everyone.

Registration forms are available at the offices of any of the sponsors and also at McDonalds. Registration will be taken through Friday, July 18, at 5 p.m. Forms should be turned in at the offices of the News-Reporter.

Late registration will be held at 10 a.m. on the morning of the parade at Williams Park.

Karen Schroeder, chairman of the event, invited kids to "come on out and show off your pet or bike."

Hoisting The Sign

2 Dead, 1 Critical After Drowning

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

Two young men are dead and a six-year-old girl is in critical condition at Children's Memorial Hospital in Milwaukee after separate drowning incidents in Fox Lake and Antioch.

The first incident occurred on Sunday afternoon, July 13, near Indian Point Resort in rural Antioch, which is on the northwest shore of the Fox Lake. Kenneth Hoff, 24, of Fox Lake was boating with two friends, Jeffrey Musielak, 24, and Patrick Dillon, 23. With the boat stopped, Hoff apparently jumped in for a swim, even though the winds were high and the water was choppy.

He soon started screaming for help, as the wind started blowing waves up to three feet and, caught in the current, he began drifting away from the boat. Musielak jumped into the water in a futile attempt to save Hoff, and Dillon threw out a life preserver. Though he tried furiously to grab hold of it, Hoff was not able to reach the flotation device. Musielak was able to safely reboard the boat after his failed rescue attempt.

Underwater recovery teams from throughout Lake, Kenosha, and McHenry Counties worked throughout the day Sunday trying to recover the body, but were hampered by high winds and poor visibility. Returning to the task on Monday, July 14, specially trained dogs from the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. were brought in to help locate the body.

After a search that began at 5 a.m., the dogs identified one spot in the water. A team of four divers led by Antioch dive-master, Paul Sural, spread out to search that area and recovered the body at about 4 p.m.

As that search was continuing, a call came in at 1:40 p.m. that a brother and sister, Brian Maezonet, 15, and Andrea Peacock, six, both of Carpentersville, were down in the water at Holiday Park. The Fox Lake underwater recovery team immediately sped to the scene and was joined by teams from Round Lake, Wauconda, and Grayslake.

About 15 minutes after they arrived, the teams recovered the boy and 20 minutes after that they recovered the girl, according to Fox Lake Fire Chief Stu Hoehne. Both victims were put on advanced life support systems immediately upon removal from the water.

Maezonet died en route to the hospital. At press time, the little girl remained in critical condition at Children's Memorial Hospital.

"We're hoping that her age and the coldness of the water will work to help her pull out of it," said Hoehne.

Conflicting reports were received as to what happened. One witness claimed that the boy was in the water by the raft when his sister jumped off the raft onto his shoulders, pulling them both down. Another witness said that the boy was helping his sister swim out to the raft when they both went under.

On a more upbeat note, three-year-old Chad Jenkins of Fox Lake, who nearly drowned two weeks ago, was steadily improving at the Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry. His reflexes are good and he recognizes his parents now. When he was pulled from the water, Jenkins had lost all his vital signs. Doctors are optimistic, but will continue to work slowly in helping Jenkins to recover.

Award Contract For Resurfacing

The Illinois Dept. of Transportation announced that a $343,044 contract has been awarded for the widening and resurfacing of Rt. 83 at North Ave. in Antioch.

The project includes bituminous base widening and resurfacing, curb and gutter, drainage structures, and traffic signals.

The contract was awarded to Peter Baker & Son Co., Lake Bluff, which expects to finish the job by Aug. 1.

He comes to Antioch from the United Methodist Congregation in Rockton, Ill., where he served as pastor for 12 years. His first appointment was also in Lake County, at the North Chicago United Methodist Church, and he has since served congregations in Durand, Mt. Morris, Harvey and Elmhurst. Prior to going to Rockton he resided in Evanston and served on the program staff of the Northern Illinois Conference of the United Methodist Church.

English has served the conference on its boards of worship, church and society and, most recently, its board of health and welfare ministries. He was a member of the Rockton Rotary and chaired a community task force responsible for a successful school referendum there. He was also active in the night and weekend chaplaincy program of Rockford Memorial Hospital.

He and his wife, Pat, have five children who currently live in Delano, Minn.; Mt. Crested Butte, Col.; Janesville, Wis.; and the Rockton area. They also have four grandchildren between the ages of four months and five years.

Mrs. English is a native of central Illinois and has lived most of her life in the Chicago suburban area. She is director of training for CONTACT, Rockford, one of 105 such CONTACT-chartered 24-hour-a-day telephone hotlines in the U.S.A.

Antioch Lions Prepare For Picnic And Auction

The Antioch Lions Club is preparing for what is not only its biggest event of the year, but also one of the social highlights of the summer in Antioch.

The Lions Club Annual Chicken Barbecue and Auction is set for Sunday, August 3, at Williams Park from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tickets for the barbecue chicken dinner, which can be eaten at the festival or brought home, are $4 each.

For moms and dads who enjoy these summer events, but sometimes have trouble keeping their active children amused, supervised games, races and other activities will begin at noon for the kids. Children will be able to win prizes in some of the events. All are sure to enjoy the antics of St. Peter's Clown Club.

Presiding over the festivities for the day will be Miss Antioch, Tamara Krause.

The farmer's auction will provide many opportunities for a good deal for those who attend. The Lions Club still seeks donations for the auction. Sporting goods, art objects, and antiques of reasonable value are always big sellers at the auction, but all donations are welcome. To donate items, contact the village hall at (312) 395-1000.

Tickets for the festival are available from Lions Club members, the State Bank of Antioch, the First National Bank of Antioch, Great American Federal Savings and Loan, and the Bank of Waukegan's Antioch facility.

He served as vice-president of commercial lending, vice-president of operations, and executive vice-president of operations and personnel before being named to the board of directors.

Carlton Elegant Setting For North Italian Cuisine

The path to fine dining will take an alternative route from downtown with the recent opening of The Carlton, the North Shore's latest culinary establishment.

Located in Waukegan, The Carlton is an elegant setting for northern Italian cuisine on the North Shore, highlighted by an exquisite marble atrium stairway in the dining room.

The Carlton offers to the North Shore and surronding areas the perfect alternative to driving downtown to enjoy the pleasures of fine dining. Located just 15 minutes north of Lake Forest, it's a relaxing drive to Waukegan where one will find ample parking in The Carlton lot.

Although The Carlton specializes in northern Italian delicacies, including fresh, light pastas and veal, chicken and fish specialties, the restaurant also offers a fine selection of continental cuisine. Gourmet sandwiches served on croissants and prime rib are the ideal complement to the lighter Italian fare.

The Carlton also provides full-service banquet facilities ideal for weddings or business gatherings. With several banquet menus from which to choose, The Carlton offers flexibility in the choices of appetizers, desserts and, of course, entrees. The banquet menus follow the high standards of the restaurant menu to satisfy even the most discriminating palates.

The Carlton is open Monday to Thursday, 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Saturday, 4 to 11 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 9 p.m.

The distinctive culinary offerings of the restaurant also will be available from The Carlton lunch menu. The Carlton is located at 630 S. Green Bay Rd., Waukegan. Reservations can be made for a memorable dining experience by calling (312) 336-1400.

Slate Craft Fair Magic

On July 19 and 20, at Craft Fair USA, there is an element of suspense, thrill-style illusion, and danger with magician, Brett Daniels at Wisconsin State Fair Park, 8100 West Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee.

Daniels performs many classic magical effects such as levitation, disapperance, transposition, and suspension. As each dramatic mystifying feat is accomplished, it quickly builds to the breathtaking re-creation of Master Magician Houdini's famed "Chinese Water Torture Cell Escape"!

Can Daniels hold his breath while handcuffed and suspended upside-down in a glass tank holding 200 gallons of water? Seconds, now minutes tick away, one, two, three minutes pass, the audience is tense, the atmosphere is electrifying, will Daniels shed his manacles, and escape the padlocked tank? Only the audience know the end result at the 1 and 3 p.m. performances.

There are more than 400 craftsmen and artists who are "masters" of technique and originality that will delight the senses too!

July 19 and 20, at Craft Fair USA promises something for the whole family at Wisconsin State Fair Park. For more information call (414) 321-4566. Adult admission, $2; children six-12, $1; under six and parking free.

Hansen Moves In To Fill County Board Spot

Bruce Hansen, Republican from Lake Zurich, was sworn in July 11 by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis as a member of the Lake County Board representing Dist. 6 in Lake County.

Hansen resigned his post as Ela Twp. trustee immediately prior to the swearing-in ceremony at the Lake County courthouse. In addition to serving as trustee, a post he has held since 1981, Hansen has also been a Republican committeeman, member of the Lake County Republican Executive Committee and was appointed commissioner of the Illinois Juvenile Justice Commission by Gov. James Thompson in 1981.

Hansen will fill the vacant seat of the late Glenn Miller, former Lake County Board Chairman. Miller and Hansen won the republican slots for the general election in November. Mundelein resident John Reindl has been named as a replacement for Miller on the ballot.

Youths Put To Work

The Ford Motor Company and the Lake County Ford agencies are cooperating with the Private Industry Council of Lake County in putting 60 economically disadvantaged youths to work this summer in an innovative summer youth employment project to help clean up and beautify parts of Lake County.

The project, called "Ford and Illinois..We Care" may well be the blueprint for future business/government problem-solving partnerships, according to Governor James Thompson.

The summer workers, who need work experience as well as a paycheck, are the arms and legs mounting a major cleanup campaign in the City of Waukegan and in the Foss Park Dist. of North Chicago.

Local Ford agencies which have contributed to matching the funds for the hourly wages for the 60 young workers are: Reed-Randle Motors, Waukegan; Sessler Ford, Libertyville; Victor Ford, Wauconda; Harris Ford, Zion; Highland Park Ford, Highland Park; Fox Lake Ford Mercury, Fox Lake; Lyons Ford, Antioch; and Wickstrom Ford, Barrington.

The remaining funds for the young people's wages come from Private Industry Council funds, according to Denise Charts, chairman of the Private Industry Council.

Ticket For Security: Get A Job In Congress

by JOHN STEINKE

Why do you think Republican Congressmen Phil Crane and John Porter are the happiest politicians in the Lake County area?

It's because we invariably and overwhelmingly reelect U.S. House incumbents. In 1984, almost 95% of U.S. Representatives who ran for reelection won. There is no reason a member of the House of Representatives should ever lose an election, after a term or two, if he's using the tools of his office properly. Political analyst Richard Scammon believes that any incumbent Congressman who does even a reasonable job of attending to the problems and needs of his constituents is all but guaranteed a vote of 5 to 10 percent above his party's normal strength in his district.

Congressional incumbents help constituents in their dealings with the federal government. Helping ordinary constituents solve their problems with the federal bureaucracy is perhaps the most politically rewarding work. The Congressman places a high priority on "the errand boy" function, especially in election years. When someone back home writes for help-in obtaining a veterans pension, for example-the Congressman or an aide frequently responds by telephone. Such profitable personal contact is mad epossible by a generous allotment of telephone and telegraph service provided at no cost to him. And the result can be a gratitude that no money can buy.

Incumbents also utilize the franking privilege-the free mailing prerogative-for Congressmen. Not surprisingly, lawmakers proclaim that the flood of franked mail-the newsletters, baby-care booklets and other materials-serve the ideal of promoting communication between Congressman and constituent. It also serves the lawmakers' ideal of getting themselves reelected. Free mailings give incumbents an immeasurable advantage over election opponents, who, of course, must pay for their own direct mail broadsides to the voters. The franking privilege, to a large extent, permits incumbents to control the flow of information to their constituents about their own performance in office.

The redistricting of House seats following the census every 10 years leaves many citizens unsure who their Representatives are, and create gerrymandered or one-party district without genuine political competition. And if the districts are too large for personal contact, they are too numberous (435) for effective national media coverage. At best, the citizen gets fragmentary information from area newspapers or metropolitan television on what his congressman is up to. Most of his information comes not from independent sources, but from the House members themselves, thanks to the franking privilege. The free mailing privilege is a formidable barrier to any election opponent; he cannot neutralize what the incumbent has accomplished through intelligent use of the frank.

Besides the day's mail and personal visits to his district, the constituent questionnaire is perhaps the most formal avenue of two-way communication between the Capitol Hill and the taxpayers. Typically, a questionnaire asking the voters' views on a host of issues is in a Congressman's periodic communication with his constituency. The replies are tabulated to provide information on what the people at home think about gun control, abortion, busing, capital punishment and a lot of other issues. They are also good reelection gimmicks for incumbents. Voters feel flattered when a Congressman asks for their views. The tabulated results of the consituent questionnaire are reproduced in a press release for distribution to the local media.

Another built-in advantage of incumbency is that most people don't possess much information regarding their Congressman's voting record. Therefore, most Representatives are relatively free to vote their preferences without hurting their chances for reelection. Certainly the major factors contributing to a Congressman's bright reelection prospects is the tremendous benefit of incumbency to help his communication with his constituency. They include free trips between Washington and his home district, free long-distance phone calls, free photographs of himself at home, subsidized radio and television recordings, the mailing frank, newsletters, constituent questionnaires, free government pamphlets, obtaining federal projects and contracts, years of publicity, doing favors for consituents, availability of sizeable campaign contributions from interest groups to advertise his record, one-party districts, permanent and mobile districts offices, and the inability of 96 percent of the voters to identify any policy their Congressman represents.

Steinke On Politics

Two congressional elections show how House members have immunized themselves from political defeat. In 1974, "the Watergate babies" were elected to the House of Representatives when many Democrats won previously secure GOP congressional districts because of President Richard Nixon's resignation. The Republicans concentrated on these House districts in 1976, ignoring the fact that most of the Democratic freshmen were going out of their way to give constituent service. The 1976 GOP campaign effort was a dud when the Republicans beat only two freshmen out of the 43 "Watergate babies." In 1984, the Republicans gained only 14 House seats from the Democrats, despite the sweeping victory of President Ronald Reagan.

Letters To The Editor:

Parade Danger

Editor:

I suggest that for Antioch's next parade the hard work of those who try and participate be laid aside. For the sake of the unsupervised children, a helicopter can then fly over and drop candy from above. Maybe the children will then eat candy until they throw up, but they won't be running in front of car wheels.

I love parades. Stick a boquet on a Model-T, throw in a fire truck, yell, "Parade!", and I'll run to watch and muster up a face full of nostalgia tears.

This year on July 4th many people attempted to present a nice parade for their town. Antioch's parades have always touched me because as many people show up to watch as participate, and that shows a town with spirit. When the marchers got to the heart of town, however, the children were on the street almost to the center yellow lines, leaving hardly any room for the parade itself. They were crouched, ready and waiting for candy, not budging an inch, even for the high school band.

Obviously these children were orphans who had been starving in the forest in a "Lord of the Flies" lifestyle. I am certain that if they had moms and dads, these children would have had candy often enough in the last six months, they would not have felt the need to scramble in front of car wheels to grab a morsel of nourishment. If they had had parents, I am sure either mom or dad out of horse sense, or at least embarrassment, would have said, "Get out of the street!" or "Make way for the parade!"

One mother did scurry periodically into the street after her own toddler after he had already come dangerously close to wheels one time after another with other children pushing behind him. She had a bandaged hand, suggesting to me that she had already been to a parade and had scrambled under car wheels for candy of her own???

What's the answer, folks? We could pulverize the candy ahead of time so that it looked as if it had been thrown into the street, and we could pass it out safely before or after the parade.

Antioch had been lucky. No driver who set out to be good citizen and take part in a parade has had to live with the guilt of having killed a child whose parents overlooked their responsibility. No parent has had to answer the question, "Where were you?" The greed, grabbing and pushing was the worst that I have seen during one of our parades. One marcher who was not in a car had children running up to her-never mind waiting to let her throw-to grab things out of her bag.

Maybe it's time to: 1. Pass things out quietly on the sidewalks during parades if things need to be handed out. 2. Prohibit participants from throwing things to the crowd. 3. Patrol the curbs with motorcycles to keep people out of the street for their own safety. 4. Have some thoughts about old-fashioned respect.

The people who participate offer their time to the town. The beauty of a small-town parade is that for at least one hour several times a year, we come together in what should be a good spirit of fun. Part of that spirit should include giving the marchers a place to walk once they get to town. If the candy is more important than the marchers, something is amiss and moreso, dangerous.

Thanks Helpers

Editor,

I want to thank all of the wonderful people who helped to make the Antioch Parks & Recreation July Fourth Celebration a great success.

Thank you to the mayor and the village trustees for backing the project and a special thanks to the police department and the public works department for putting forth their all and (having) a lot of patience with me. I must direct thanks to Tim Wells especially, as he put up with a lot of me for a number of weeks.

Without the bartenders that donated their time we could not have had the success that we did. Of course the entertainers, food booths, Miss Antioch committee, judges, and Tom Gutowski's time coordinating the firemens' waterfights (contributed to the success as well).

The schools, camper people, and parade participants made the festivities go smoothly.

Thank you to all of the donors that help me every year to cover the expenses involved in the project.

Rep. Churchill Explains Failure Of Racetrack Bill

by STEVE PETERSON

If a racetrack is to be built in Lake County, it may be up to local governmental bodies to get the job done.

"It's up to the local governments now. Old Mill Creek probably could not do much, but perhaps Lake County could through tax-increment-financing and enterprise zones," Robert Churchill(R-62) said.

Arlington Park owner Richard Duchossois had planned to build a racetrack-resort complex on 1,700 acres of land in Newport Twp. But Philip Rock, Senate President and an Oak Park Democrat, kayoed the bill by not calling it in the session's final hours.

Churchill, in an interview with Lakeland Newspapers, said he expected the bill to pass up to the final minutes.

"When we came out of the House-Senate conference committee at about 3 a.m.. I expected the bill to be presented and passed," he said.

The House of Representatives was in session when Rock adjourned the Senate.

Churchill said the Lake County representatives did everything they could to get the bill passed.

"The Lake County representatives were united in this," Churchill said.

Churchill explained part of Rock's not calling the bill stemmed from a personal fued with House Speaker Michael Madigan(D-Chicago) and Rock's desire to have inter-track wagering including.

"I guess we could have given him the inter-track wagering, but that is a step away from off-track betting. That would have opened the floodgates to things like dog racing. We wanted a clean bill," the representative said.

"The bill was contingent upon a racetrack being built in Lake County," Churchill said.

There would be no relief for the state's track industry if the racetrack is not built in the county.

Other key elements of the package that was never voted upon included a reducation of the state's 6 percent pari-mutuel tax to 3 percent.

Reducing the "gimmick" surcharge by 50 percent as of Jan. 1, 1989. Cost to the state was estimated at $15 million.

The phasing out of the state share of breakage - odd cents remaining after winning bets - at a rate of half of the state's share in 1988. Bill supporters estimated this measure would cost the state $3 to $4 million in revenue.

A free-enterprise provision would allow the tracks to control day-to-day operations of racing. The market would determine such prices as parking and concessions. Presently the industry is tightly controlled by the Illinois Racing Board.

A reform package that included all horses be placed in a security barn for up to five hours before race time to prevent drugging; employment-termination procedure which would stop the hiring of clerks found guilty of theft of state or patron dollars, or who bet on duty or are guilty of "touting" or giving tips on races.

DuQuoin State Fair would have received permission to stage pari-mutuel racing meets and hire personnel for summer jobs.

The Agricultural Premium Fund of dollars lost due to tax relief would have been created.

Come To The Fair

There's something about the county fair time that makes for a good feeling. Whether it's the excitement of competition, anticipation of seeing new and different things or the satisfaction that comes from renewing old friendships amid familiar surroundings, fair week is a good time to be alive.

That's why the annual Lake County Fair, which begins July 23 for a five-day run, is one of the highlights of the year as far as we're concerned. The exposition, one of the top county fairs in Illinois, will be in its 31st year at the mid-county fairgrounds.

Besides providing a pleasurable experience for all ages and all walks of life, the county fair provides one of the strongest links with our past. The county fair also provides the atmosphere for building a genuine feeling of community in a county that is getting more diverse all the time. The 1986 edition looks to be bigger and better than ever. See you at the fair!

'Midwest Lake Tahoe'

If Waukegan can tout a present blighted lakefront area as a future "Riveria on the Lake", there's no reason why Fox Lake shouldn't envision itself as a "midwest Lake Tahoe" what with the present amount of commercial construction and rehabilitation laying the groundwork for transformation to a quality resort/recreation community.

Considering a boxscore of improvement projects, Fox Lake has jumped into the lead.

Shacks and brush are being bulldozed in Fox Lake. Dilapidated century old resorts are being refurbished. The new look in local government is serving as an impetus to new investment such as a downtown shopping center, Andres on the Bay, which is homeport for the new Island Queen paddlewheeler, and new waterfront eating establishments. The once seedy center with an international reputation for a record number of taverns, is setting a fast pace for neighboring Lakeland communities with new downtown commercial development and construction of condominium residential living. Fox Lake soon even will be sporting Lake County's first industrial heliport.

Without a doubt, the new Fox Lake-Chain O' Lakes Water Management Agency is serving as a strong underpinning for confidence in the future by providing leadership and direction for preservation of key natural resources, the lakes and the river.

Twenty years ago, business and civic leaders worked diligently, but without much success, to rid Fox Lake of its "wild west" reputation. At that time investors were redlining the Chain O' Lakes. It is interesting to note that it took two decades to realize what visionaries saw as Fox Lake's potential. Mayor William Dam longingly looks at nearby Lake Geneva as a model for combining a thriving resort-recreation economy with attractive community life. It's not too farfetched to see the Wisconsin neighbors returning the looks one of these days.

Look To Main St. For Low Tech's High Return

by BILL SCHROEDER

Credit a Lake Forest resident with coming up with a cracking good idea to promote new jobs for Illinois, a state noted for its export progress that also has been exporting manufacturing jobs to other areas at an alarming rate.

William H. Rentschler, one time Republican statewide leader, conceived and organized the campaign, "Low Tech/High Return," and has won the immediate support of the state's two leading Democrats, U.S. Sens. Alan J. Dixon and Paul Simon. The basic premise of the plan will be to organize new business or revitalize existing companies that manufacture unglamorous products used in everyday life.

"Low Tech/High Return" is a deliberate playoff on today's preoccupation with high tech industry. The campaign will target on companies with employment of 25 to 500 workers and sales ranging from $500,000 to $20 million.

Without a doubt, Rentschler hit a responsive chord with "Low Tech/High Return." "We shouldn't get carried away with razzle-dazzle that we forget our manufacturing roots," Dixon declared at a press conference announcing the project. Simon hailed the innovative thinking of Rentschler, who once aspired for the same job Simon now holds.

So far Rentschler hasn't been too specific about how "Low Tech/High Return" will function. Preliminary outlines call for a long-term cooperative effort between government and private enterprise. Details will be formulated at a Sept. 23 conference in Chicago.

From this writer's viewpoint, "Low Tech/High Return" will be successful if two segments of the community get involved with enthusiasm and determination—local government and the local bankers. There is an abundance of persons with ideas and dedication, the old-fashioned entrepreneurs. Where they run aground, in our opinion, is when they go for such things as zoning and use permits (local government) or when they seek financing (local bankers). We've seen all too often budding small business persons chilled when they are turned off at the village hall or the local bank. Forget the federal government. Before Washington gets around to dealing with a little guy with an idea, he's had to get a job at Woolworth's to put some food on the table for the kids.

So, good luck, Bill Rentschler. Let's get "Low Tech/High Return" down to the level of Main St. That's where the future is!

THINKING AHEAD—The next tax supported park district might be formed to serve the Fox Lake area.

Mayor William Dam, mindful of the strides taken by neighboring park districts, is hopeful that Fox Lake can get on the bandwagon. He'd like to see a proposition on the ballot next March.

SHY DEFENSE—Courthouse wags are predicting that the Courtroom of newly appointed Associate Judge Al Wysocki will be teeming with change of venue requests like moths swarming around a lantern on a hot summer night.

They insist that no defense attorney will want to come before Wysocki, a close associate of Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox. Wysocki helped knock Don Mason, who was all set to challenge Babcox in the primary, off the ballot.

Letters To The Editor:

Priorities Askew

Editor:

I am puzzled by a number of questions relative to national priorities...

We as a nation should examine quantitative values and subordinate subjective opinions when examining opposing views. In this instance, the opposing views pertain to military expenditures versus other possible expenditures. Consider the following data:

This year the average household in the United States will pay $5,767 in Federal taxes. Of this amount, $115 will go for housing, $126 will go for education and $138 will go for food and nutrition programs. $3,108, or more than 50% of average household taxes, will be earmarked for the Pentagon.

The intrusive questions which continue to puzzle me include:

—Are our national priorities askew? For example, how do we as a nation justify approximately 54% for military expenditures and only 2% for education?

—Will the $30 million down payment on the $1 trillion "Star Wars" project (Strategic Defense Initiative) having 95% efficacy be worth the expenditure --when the difference of a 5% gap would permit the entry of 400 to 800 warheads which would destroy approximately ½ of our population?

—Why are we abandoning the SALT II agreements? Is preparing for war less costly than striving for peace?

Our expenditures must be examined in relation to cost/benefit analyses.

Wash Out Mouths

Editor:

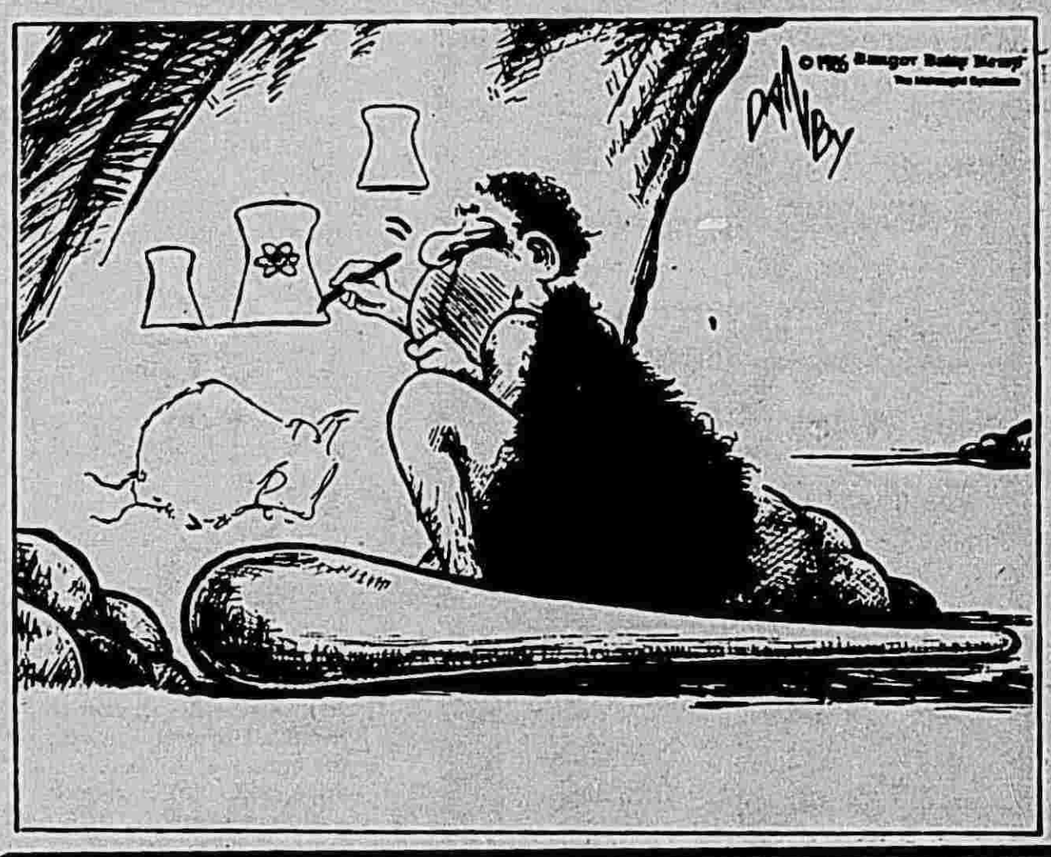

Good morals begin with parents, right? Parents are responsible for their children, right? Then why are our children left home alone, left to hang around the beach, parks, stores and get into trouble?

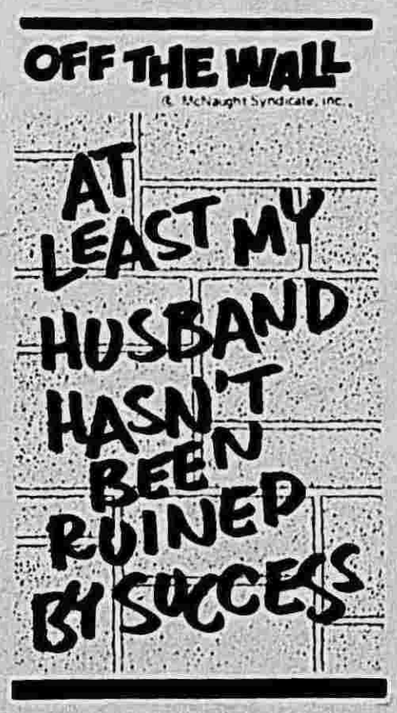

Parents, good language begins at home. You clean up your profanity and teach your kids good language and morals.

It sickens me to take our five-year-old daughter to the park or beach and there these "children" swear and spit and misbehave. They don't care if adults are nearby or not.

Please, parents, teach your children manners. Teach them swearing is a sin. Be a good example to our future generation. Get out the soap and start washing out a few mouths.

Pets Need Special Care During Summer

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

Every year I try to remind people to take special care of their pets during the hot summer. With everyone so busy and people getting excited about vacations and all the wonderful things that summer has to offer, it is indeed easy to forget about what our pets experience in the heat.

The dog wants outside so the owner chains him in the shade. But before long, the hours have passed. The sun has come around and now the dog is no longer in the shade, plus he turned over his water dish sometime ago.

When a pet is put outdoors, make sure he will have shade at all times of the day. He doesn't really want to go into his house, since it is even hotter in there. Often he'll lay in the sun to avoid that. A cool shaded porch or a place with lots of shade from the trees is better and cooler because the air circulates. Make sure he can get to shelter if it should rain if he is out for the day.

Lots of fresh cool water is most important for all pets. The water dish should be changed about three times a day. Pets need to drink a lot in the summer.

Playtime for your pet should not take place in the heat of the day. An animal can become overheated and suffer heat stroke.

Car rides are not a good idea. Even when just a ride is planned, most people end up stopping and making a "fast" trip into the store. Within five minutes the car is already heating up to a dangerous point for your pet. In 10 minutes the temperature can reach 102 degrees. At the end of 30 minutes, it may well be up to 120 degrees. Such temperatures can result in brain damage and even death for your pet.

If you must leave your pet in the car, park in the shade. Be sure to crack the window and leave a dish of water or crushed ice for your pet. You are still taking a risk. Three minutes is the maximum time you should be away if you must leave your pet at all.

Pet-Wise

Leaving a pet in the car is also an invitation for someone to take him. So your pet is actually in double danger.

A pet should never ride in a car with his head out an open window. He could fall out or even jump out to chase another animal.

Your pet is best left at home in a cool room with plenty of water. The house may feel cool in the morning, but by noon it may have heated up considerably. Leave a screened window open or a fan running. Make sure the fan is out of the way of your pet. An air conditioner is ideal. A basement or lower level is also cooler.

If your dog or cat suffers heat stroke, bring down the body temperature with ice or cool water. The fastest and best treatment is immersing the animal in ice water or spraying him with cool water. His recovery will depend on your prompt treatment. Be sure to take the pet directly to your veterinarian.

It seems that young animals such as pups and kittens are more vulnerable to external heat stress. Overweight animals are more susceptible to such problems.

In the hot summer your pet may be less active and that's okay. He will need fewer calories. Check with your veterinarian.

Fish owners should make sure their fish tank is not in front of a window the hot sun comes through, and that it isn't in front of a draft from the air conditioner. Cool down the water slowly with other water if it should get too hot.

Birds, hamsters, etc. may need their cages cleaned more often. They should not be left by a window in the hot sun, nor in drafts. They all need plenty of water.

The change in temperature from very hot days to cool evenings can be very hard on pets. Don't leave the window open at night with the pet nearby.

If you think things through for your pets and use common sense, it will be a safe and happy summer for all.

Urge To Quit Must Be Strong When They're Biting

Recently on Pistakee Lake, Mother Nature decided to have a blowout. It has been our pleasure to spend many years in this locale, midway between the towns of McHenry and Fox Lake. Storms have come and gone, but this one dumped over four inches of rain in little more than an hour.

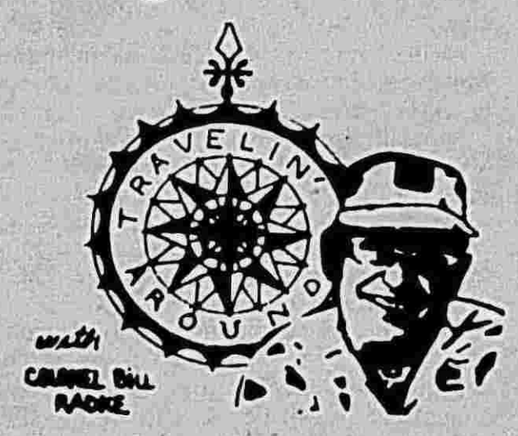

As the storm approached, we were fishing in Pistakee Bay and they were biting. I had a few crappie in the boat when the fast darkening sky started rumbling "Go Home" signals..Get off the water, it said. Ominous overhead cloud structures were wreathed in skudding white whisps that speak of wind. It takes a strong urge to stop an angler when the biting is good, but we reeled in the lines, returned the fish to the bay and hurriedly headed home.

Five minutes later at the pier, winds started to whistle. Snapped up the boat's top, side curtains and tonneau and headed up the tree studded hill to the cottage. By then rain could be seen speedily approaching on the water across the bay. Shroud wires on berthed sail boats started to hum...that takes strong wind velocity.

Shortly, the heavens broke loose, rain zoomed past our windows on a screaming, horizontal course, lightening was all around us. Rattling doors blew open and our lights went out. Followed by cannon like volleys of thunder that vibrated windows, it was a veritable tornado, we later learned. Three large trees within 300 feet and several large branches tumbled under the mounting wind pressure. One massive willow fell across two boats on trailers and a parked RV, with it pretty well crushed. This is how nature eliminates the weak. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Our most serious storm problem was the downed electrical circuit pulled loose from the building by a falling limb. But candles served us to bedtime. We finally needed and used the flash lights we keep batteried up for just such an emergency. Storms like this remind a person that nature has no equal when it comes to powerful forces. It makes one humble and thankful to come through these experiences with minimum problems.

There is another force in nature which we sometimes forget, called gravity. It makes things drop to the ground, and cars and trailers run downhill...under their own power at times. There are over five million boat trailers in use. We have all heard highway stories about them coming loose and causing accidents, because something broke or was not properly hooked up. It almost happened to us, after 30 years of trailering. This year, we prepared our boat for initial launching, by cleaning it in our front yard, on the hill overlooking our pier. In order to go shopping, it was necessary to unhitch the trailer with the boat still on.

As we started down the hill to the exit road 200 feet distant, I was fascinated by the look of utter amazement on the face of a fellow boater as he stared up the hill toward our cottage. Following his gaze, there was our 16-footer rolling slowly down the grade under its own power. It had worked off the block and was heading toward parked cars, people and boats. We froze to a stop, but were too far away to intercept the wandering craft. Then gravity's guiding power headed it into a grove of trees and it stopped with a thud against a sturdy tree trunk.

Thank Goodness for that tree. The results could have been much worse. Now I can say, block your trailer wheels well and really mean it.

Summer Salads--Part Of The Good Life

Summer, as far as I'm concerned, means cool drinks and tasty salads.

Lettuce proceed. It's the perfect season to shed a few pounds without going on a diet.

For instance, try a salad for lunch. Get this: 10 small mushrooms contain only 28 calories and 3 1/2 ounces of spinach has but 26 calories.

Together, they make the perfect summer salad.

Just be sure to thoroughly wash the spinach. Then enjoy.

Mushroom-Spinach Salad No. 1

2 cups sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup Italian salad dressing
3 cups torn spinach
3 cups torn lettuce
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Marinade mushrooms in salad dressing in shallow baking dish one hour in refrigerator.

Place spinach and lettuce in large salad bowl and refrigerate covered with paper toweling until ready to use. Add mushrooms and marinade to greens and gently toss. Garnish with eggs. Serves six. Pass rest of salad dressing at dinner table.

GREG MELIKOV

Mushroom-Spinach Salad No. 2

2 pounds spinach, washed and torn in bite-size pieces
8 slices bacon
4 tablespoons cider vinegar
4 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons water
3/4 pound mushrooms, sliced
2 large carrots, shredded
4 hard-cooked eggs, cut in wedges

Place spinach in large salad bowl and refrigerate covered with paper toweling until ready to use. In large skillet, fry bacon until crisp, drain and set aside. Leave desired amount of bacon fat in skillet; stir in vinegar, sugar, salt and water and heat through, stirring. Pour over spinach and toss until coated and wilted. Crumble bacon and add to salad with mushrooms and carrots; toss and garnish with egg wedges. Serves eight.

Class To Start July 23

The next session of Good Sheperd Hospital's "Me & Mom" exercise program will begin Wednesday, July 23.

The four-week program meets from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the hospital and has been developed for new moms and babies two weeks to six months old.

Participants will learn exercises that will help them get back in shape. The sessions also offer new mothers the opportunity to get together and "talk shop" by discussing problems and experiences.

The cost for the "Me & Mom" program is $30. For more information or to register, call Good Shepherd's physical medicine department at (312) 381-9600, extension 5360.

Good Shepherd Hospital is located north of Barrington on Hwy. 22, two miles west of Rte. 59.

24-Hour Phone System To Aid Hearing Impaired

Good Shepherd has set up a special 24-hour telephone number that allows the hearing impaired to communicate with the hospital.

By calling (312) 381-7682, persons with access to TDD units (Telecommunication Device for the Deaf) will be able to "talk" with the operator of the hospital's newly installed TDD.

the TDD resembles a small typewriter and features a keyboard, 20-character display board and a message printer. The unit ties into a telephone line and is used by the hearing impaired to send and receive messages.

Monika Gee, telecommunication supervisor at Good Shepherd, said, "The TDD will allow us to help and get assistance to callers who have an emergency or need to reach Good Shepherd's poison control hotline.

"Few persons realize now many disabled in the community have no way of calling," Gee added. "It's important that the hearing impaired know Good Shepherd has opend these lines of communication."

Air Travel--Finding The Best Bargain

Airline industry deregulation is making the market for bargain air fares as wide open as the big skies of Montana.

With air fares darting up and down like a kite, the American traveler today needs help in sorting out the consumer deals from the come-ons. Often there can be hidden surcharges behind those colorful and clever air fare advertisements, but there also can be some real bargains.

Generally, deregulation has meant lower air fares and better service. Under deregulation, travelers are saving $6 billion annually, a recent Brookings Institute study estimates.

For example, an Arizona State University college student recently flew from Chicago's Midway Airport to Phoenix and back for $160 via Southwest Airlines. Earlier, a professional journalist paid $330 for the same round trip flight from Chicago's O'Hare Airport on United Airline.

Early this spring a traveler who booked reservations a month in advance paid $490 for a one-way ticket to Los Angeles from Washington, D.C., only to discover later that he could have had a round trip ticket for only $278.

Transoceanic flights usually cost a bundle, but is is possible to fly roundtrip to London from New York for $250, if you are willing to be a courier. It is less expensive for companies to ship parcels overseas as baggage of an airline passenger than as air freight. So passengers working as couriers make daily trips abroad with hundreds of pounds of someone else's luggage, and save a bundle.

How do you find the cheapest air fare? Common sense tells the average traveler to keep an eye on newspaper advertisements for the latest bargains. Also develop a good relationship with a good travel agent and ask about deals.

Unfortunatesly, it is not in a travel agent's best interest to spend a great deal of time helping you search for a super-low fare. Remember–travel agents earn a comparatively small commission on air fares and make the biggest profit on arranging package deals and tours.

So it pays to know what questions to ask: Fran Kolman, travel expert with Gray's Travel in Northbrook, gave the following tips for buying the lowest priced air fares and avoiding penalties:

–DISCOUNTED FARES - The standard coach fare, known as the "Y" fare, is not discounted. Ask about the "M" fare, the coach economy discounted fare. It usually is 10 to 20 percent cheaper.

–ADVANCE TICKET PURCHASE - Super-saver prices usually are the best deal around. However, they require 30 days advance purchase. If you buy your ticket early, and the fare is reduced later, you usually can exchange your ticket for one at the lower price.

–BEWARE OF PENALTIES - Ask if there are cancellation penalties. "On most super-saver tickets, travelers face a 25 percent panalty, sometimes 50 percent, if they change their itinerary or cancel," said Kolman.

Because of terrorist incidents in the Mideast and in Europe, hundreds of American tourists decided to cancel vacation plans or change destinations. Many travelers were slapped with hefty cancellation fees that they weren't told about when they purchased their airline tickets.

"If you are not sure about your plans, it is better to purchase a slightly more expensive, less restrictive fare," said Kolman.

–NO FRILLS TRAVEL - If you don't mind no-frills travel, several popular discount carriers rarely are undersold. However, low cost means less service. Discount carriers usually are not connected with travel agents' computer systems. You may have to call the airline direct for reservations and bargain fares. Also beware of deliberate overbooking on no-frills airlines.

–OFF-PEAK RATES - Ask about early morning or late night fares. Weekend flights on business routes often are cheaper, while midweek fares are cheaper to vacation spots. By altering your departure date a few days or even a few hours, you may be able to quality for special fares or off-peak rates. Give your travel agent maximum latitude to arrange your travel times.

–DISCOUNT CLUBS - If you are able to travel on short notice, another way to save big bucks is with last-minute discount clubs. The clubs specialize in disposing of unsold airline seats from package tours. But read the club's rules carefully before you pay the $35 to $45 annual fee for club membership.

–OFF-BEAT AIRPORTS - Flying from slightly less convenient, smaller airports near a large city often can bring substantial savings. Earlier this year, you could fly to Newark Airport from Washington's National Airport on People Express for $49 on an off-peak fare.

–FLY STANDBY - Although standby fares are rare on domestic flights, ask about them. Standbys often are available on New York-London flights, where the savings are substantial. Usually, standby passengers have to check in at the airport several hours before the flight is scheduled to leave. Then, if seats are available they are allowed to fly at reduced rates. However, only a small number of seats are set aside for standby travelers.

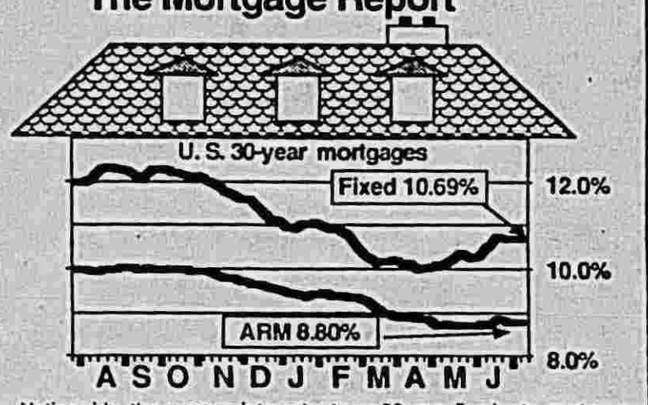

Remember, you need not ask all of these questions each time you call your travel agent, but the fact that you are asking the right questions lets your agent know your are a savvy traveler who is serious about finding a bargain fare.

Grayslake Resident Hopes Semi-Pro Can Return

by DAN O'SHEA

If Rob Hawkins has his way, Shore Line League semi-pro baseball will be returning to Grayslake next summer.

Grayslake has not been a member of the Shore Line League since the 1970s when Burgess Vibrocrafters Inc. sponsored a team for several years.

Hawkins said he already has 16 players interested in joining the team but he is looking for more. He is also presently searching for a sponsor for the team.

Hawkins, a member of the Gurnee Shore Line team this year, said he will manage the team and also play. He is a Grayslake resident.

Hawkins is planning a training camp of sorts for prospective players July 21, 23, 25 and 26. He can be reached at (312) 223-1664 for more information.

Q: I seem to hit the ball solidly and am satisfied with my distance, but I'm sometimes off line to the right. If I'm badly out of position at address why do I only hit to the right on some shots?

A: If you are hitting the ball solidly and your distance is good, I'm sure your alignment problem is slight and can easily be corrected. Check the position of your shoulders and hips at address. I believe you will find that at least some of the time your upper body is positioned to the left of your target line. Even with your feet properly positioned to your intended target line, you will naturally hit to the right from this upper body position as your hands will come down and through the ball too early (before the club head), causing the ball to be struck from an open club face which blocks the ball out to the right. So the key thought here is to check those shoulders and hips on each shot to be sure they are not open but really square to your target line.

Health Dept. Receives Alert

The Lake County Health Dept. has received an alert from the Consumer Product Safety Commission on the Country Cozy, 12-inch teddy bear, model LSB, which has small parts that could be a choking hazard and sharp wires that could cause lacerations or puncture wound injuries.

Attached to the left paw of each teddy bear are three wires with balls on the ends representing balloons on strings. When the Consumer Product Safety Commission subjected the teddy bears to use and abuse testing, the balls, which are small parts, detached, exposing sharp points on the ends of the wires.

While Country Cozy's intended these bears as decorative giftwear, the bears are attractive to small children and are likely to be given to small children. Consumers who bought these teddy bears for children should immediately remove and discard the balls and wires to eliminate the choking, puncture and laceration hazards. Retailers should do the same to any teddy bears they have in stock.

The model LSB teddy bear in question is wearing a dress trimmed with white lace. Attached to the front of the dress is a hexagonal-shaped ceramic tile approximately 1¾ inches in diameter with the message "Crazy About You" and five hearts in various colors on it. Approximately 3,000 of these teddy bears were distributed nationwide between January, 1985, and January, 1986.

Anyone wishing additional information may contact Greg Buscher of Country Cozy's, Inc., at (213) 630-3415 or CPSC's toll-free hotline at (800) 638-CPSC.

Hess-Litwiler Battle Keys On Avon Outcome

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

Democratic County Clerk Linda Hess of Gurnee is seeking reelection to a second four-year term in the Nov. 4 election. Presently, Hess is the only Democrat occupying countywide office. Her GOP opponent is Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler of Ingleside. Four years ago, Hess defeated Republican Harry Thomas of Libertyville by 355 votes out of 111,187 ballots recorded in the race.

Mrs. Litwiler's candidacy is being sponsored by Lake County Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox's political machine. Both Litwiler and Babcox are residents of Dist. 4, which includes Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa in western Lake County. Litwiler has served on the county board for the past six years. Will the Babcox forces be able to mobilize the Dist. 4 vote for Litwiler in the fall election? Will Litwiler's "favorite daughter" status benefit her campaign in Dist. 4?

Four years ago, Hess lost Dist. 4 by only 714 votes to Thomas. Hess garnered 48 percent of Dist. 4 vote, and carried both Avon and Lake Villa Twps.

See adjoining table for Dist. 4 election returns for the 1982 county clerk's race:

TWPS.	HESS (D)	THOMAS (R)	MAJORITY
Antioch	1,986 (46.8%)	2,326 (53.8%)	R. 420
Avon	2,945 (51.9%)	2,734 (48.1%)	D. 211
Grant	1,508 (42.1%)	2,071 (57.9%)	R. 563
Lake Villa	2,833 (58.7%)	1,977 (49.3%)	D. 56
Total Vote	8,394 (46.8%)	9,108 (52.8%)	R. 714

Will Linda Hess be able to neutralize the Babcox organization, her challenger's "favorite daughter" status and the Republican tradition in western Lake County? The Hess vote must increase in Avon, the most populous township in Dist. 4. The massive migration of Chicagoans and Hispanics into Avon Twp. has transformed the Round Lake communities into the most powerful Democratic region in western Lake County. In addition, Mrs. Litwiler has alienated many Avon Twp. Republicans, including County Board Rep. Norm Geary of Grayslake.

Geary is the dean of the Dist. 4 Representatives with 22 years of service on the county board. Geary has criticized Litwiler's performance in office. He claims: "Litwiler's County Board record is terrible. She has yet to be to a meeting on time. If she is elected Lake County Clerk, she will have to hire someone to run the office."

Geary isn't expected to issue a public endorsement of Hess' candidacy because he is seeking reelection on the Nov. 4 ballot. Avon Twp. Clerk Virginia Harrington is openly supporting Hess' reelection. Harrington is Geary's closest political associate. It is unlikely that Harrington would have endorsed Hess without Geary's approval. Hess will need a combination of Grayslake Republicans and Round Lake Democrats to carry Avon Twp. in the fall contest.

CLC Appoints Interim

The College of Lake County Board of Trustees has appointed Dr. James Doppke CLC interim president for the period of the presidential search at CLC.

The appointment was made at a special meeting of the board held July 8 and is effective Sept. 1. Doppke currently holds the position of vice president for educational affairs at CLC.

The current president, Dr. John Hunter, has accepted the presidency of Alfred State College in New York and will leave CLC Aug. 31.

Doppke has been with CLC in his current position since 1982. Prior to accepting his administrative position at CLC, he served as associate provost at Chicago State University. His graduate and doctorate degrees are in English literature from the University of Chicago.

Doppke served in a number of administrative and instructional positions at Chicago State, including chairperson of the English Dept. and associate vice president.

The board also filled the newly created position of dean of curriculum and instruction. Russell Peterson, currently the associate dean for the communication arts division, will be responsible for curriculum development and evaluation at CLC, and will also monitor educational issues at the state and national level.

"This is an opportunity to coordinate and strengthen the curriculum in both, the career and liberal arts areas," said Peterson about the new position.

Other appointments include: Karen Digilio as project manager at Fort Sheridan and Dominick Amorelli as temporary project manager for basic skills training of naval personnel in San Diego and Hawaii.

In other action, the board accepted the low bid from the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Inc. to sell $3.5 million in bonds to fund a $900,000 health and safety project and $2.6 million in working cash.

ON PEAK ALERT DAYS, IT PAYS TO USE LESS.

On Peak Alert days the extra-high demand for electricity tests our ability to provide all the power you need.

If we announce a Peak Alert, it means our thrifty coal and nuclear generators can't do the job alone. We have to use less efficient generators, too. And all of us pay that extra expense on our electric bills.

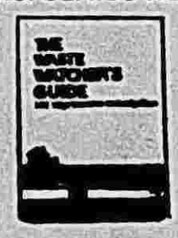

You can lower your energy bills this summer.

Every summer day, and especially when we've issued a Peak Alert, adopt some of these energy-saving, money-saving habits:

If you stay indoors:
- Set your air conditioner at 78° or higher.
- Keep your curtains closed so the sun's hot rays will stay outside.
- Wash your clothes and run your dishwasher on a cool day.
- Use all large appliances before 9 AM or after 10 PM.
- Open your refrigerator only when necessary.

Switch to outdoor activities:
- Head to the beach or find a refreshing pool.
- Dry your clothes outdoors.
- Cook on charcoal instead of the stove. Or don't cook at all–try a light sandwich or salads.

Ask for our free Waste Watcher's Guide:

It lists 101 things you can do to save energy every day. For your copy, write: Energy Information, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, IL 60690. And in the meantime, remember that when there's a Peak Alert, it pays to use less.

Geiger Next Chief

Chief Judge William D. Block has announced that the circuit judges of the 19th Judicial Circuit have unanimously elected Judge Fred A. Geiger as the next chief judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit to take office Dec. 1, following the expiration of Judge Block's term.

A graduate of the University of Illinois Law School, Geiger was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1968. He and his wife, Joan, and their three sons reside in Libertyville. Judge Geiger was appointed as an associate judge in 1982 and became a circuit judge after having been elected in the general election in November, 1984.

Block further stated that "all of the circuit judges of the 19th Circuit have a common goal to continually develop the best court system in the state and country. The close cooperation and extremely good working relationship between the circuit judges will allow all of us to support Judge Geiger as we have supported each chief judge in maintaining this goal."

Neal Appoints Gill To Head Campaign

Lake County Republican Party Chairman Robert P. Neal has appointed Bill Gill of Zion to be the Lake County special events coordinator for the 1986 Thompson/Ryan Gubernatorial Campaign.

Gill was also an active participant in Gov. Thompson's 1982 campaign, serving as both, campus coordinator at the College of Lake County and county youth chairman.

Upon graduating from Illinois State University in 1985, Gill was selected by Gov. Thompson to serve on his Springfield staff in a year-long fellowship program.

The special events segment of the campaign includes participating in parades, town festivals, civic affairs and the county fair. Gill said, "participation in special events is a vital aspect of the governor's campaign and that between 30 to 40 volunteers are needed." Volunteers will assist in all Lake County activities with the governor, as Thompson is expected to visit Lake County several times throughout the campaign.

Thompson's next anticipated appearance in Lake County will be Friday, July 18, when he is expected to attend the Republican golf outing at the Midlane County Club.

Anyone wishing to volunteer to work on the governor's campaign should call (312) 623-0235 or (312) 872-2375.

CLC Slates Sessions

Information sessions on the College of Lake County's Office/Secretarial Re-entry Certificate program have been scheduled for Wednesday, July 23, and Monday, Aug. 18, at 2 and 6:30 p.m.

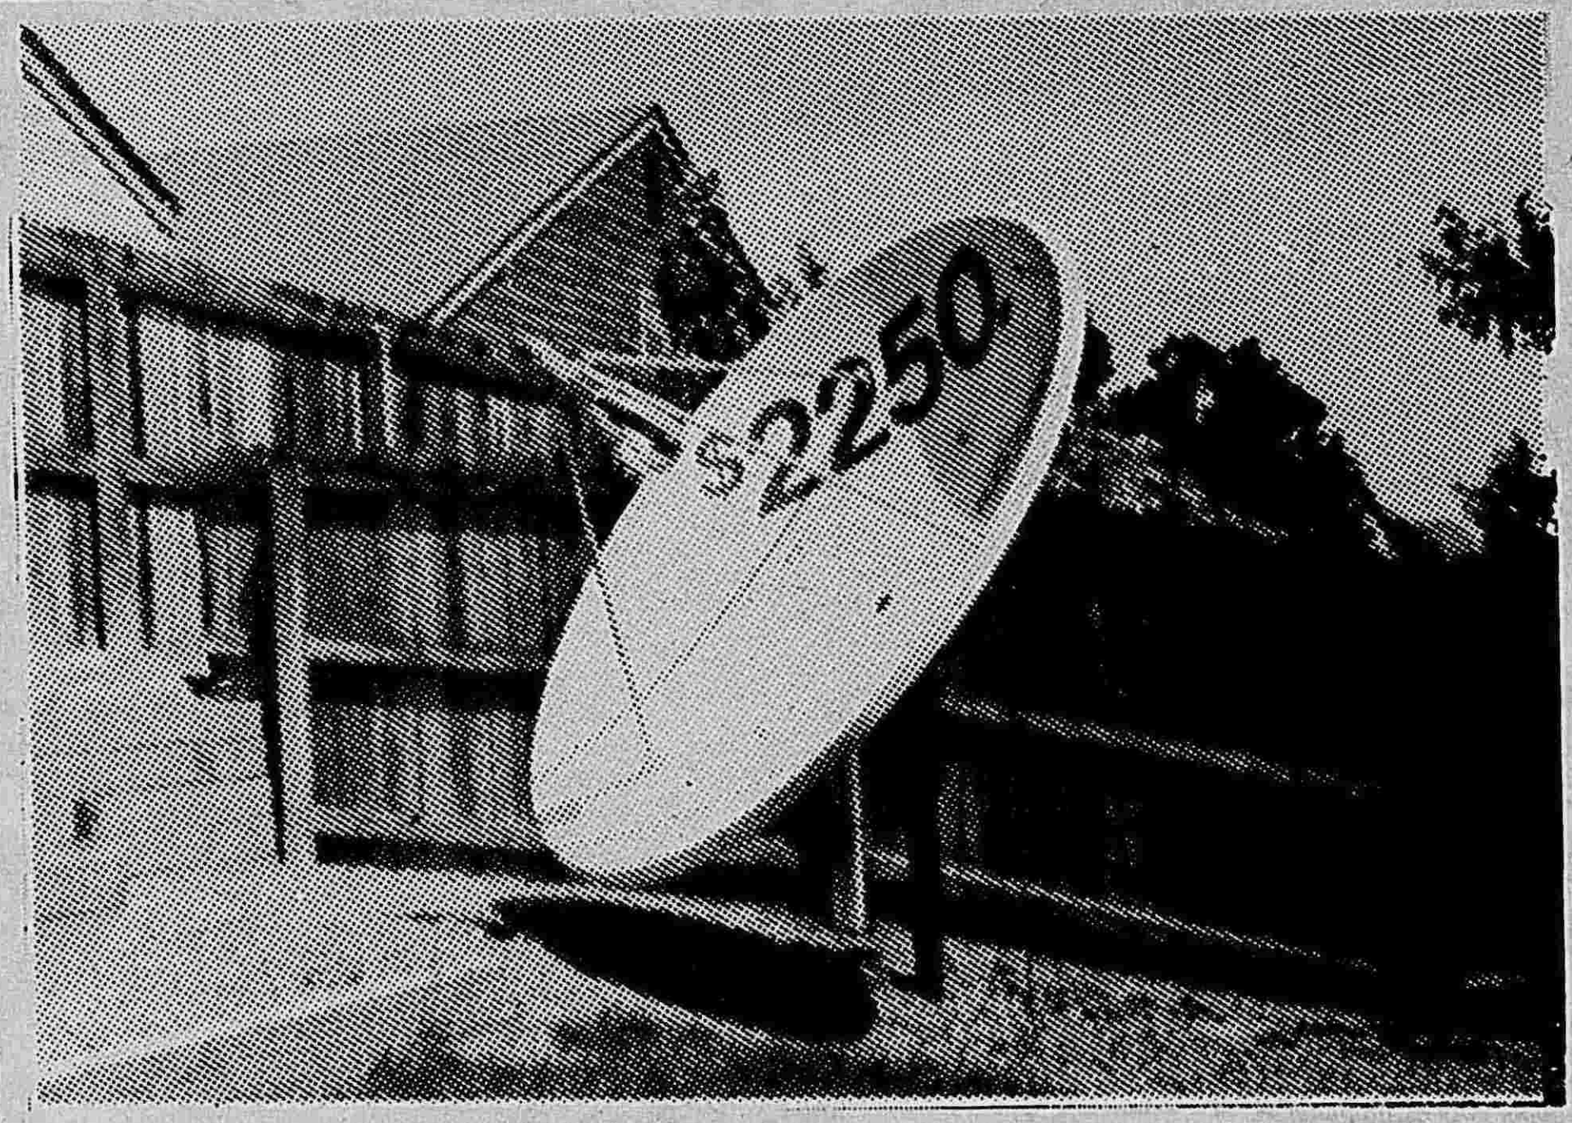

Instituted in the fall of 1983, the re-entry program has a growing success record with both, the participants and local businesses.

The program focuses on upgrading skills, instruction of new office technologies and procedures including word processing, and employment. Of the 69 participants who have completed the program, 41 are employed with full time salaries ranging from $11,000 to $21,000 yearly. Those employed part time are earning wages from $4.50 to $10 per hour. Some of those not employed have postponed seeking work until after school begins this fall.

Local companies who have hired graduates of the program include Baxter Travenol, Abbott Laboratories, Electronic Counters and Controls, Great Lakes Naval Training Base, Walgreens, IMC and Medline Industries.

BUYING A HOME SATELLITE DISH IS COSTLIER THAN YOU THINK.

Before you spend your hard earned money on a satellite receive dish you should learn the facts.

This year popular premium services like HBO and Cinemax will begin scrambling their signals with highly sophisticated electronic encryption devices.

And this new technique won't be limited to just premium services. Many basic cable channels like ESPN, MTV and CNN have announced their intentions to scramble signals.

What does this mean for satellite dish owners?

In addition to paying several thousand dollars for the purchase and installation of a receive dish, it will be necessary to spend hundreds of dollars on descrambling equipment plus pay monthly service fees for each channel received.

Make your decision based on the facts.

"A 7.5% CD from Skokie Federal can mean more than 7.5% elsewhere..."*

Margi Englehardt, Branch Manager of the Downtown Skokie office, advises customers on how to get the most for their money.

"The best advice I give customers who are comparing rates on CDs is to beware that 7.5% does not always equal 7.5%. That may sound strange, but because of the various ways of compounding interest, it is often the case.

"For example, because we compound daily, 7.5% at Skokie Federal Savings means more than 7.5% at most other institutions who only compound monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or not at all. This means our customers earn the highest yield possible for a given rate on our CDs and savings accounts. And it's the yield, not the rate, that determines how much you will actually earn on an account at maturity.

"Other institutions try to lure savers into accounts with lower yields by offering cash bonuses, high simple interest rates and other gimmicks. At Skokie Federal, it's our policy to let our customers know the bottom line upfront ...the yield on all our accounts. That makes me proud to be a part of the Skokie Federal team."

7.5% is used as an example only. Call 674-3610 for current rates on all our CDs.

County Fair 'Gets In Their Blood'

by SUSAN MONTGOMERY

It gets in your blood, this "fair stuff" does.

Lake Villa residents Mary and John Haisma started attending the Lake County Fair as youngsters and haven't stopped since. As a child, Mary's ties with the fair began through her father, Elbert Elsberg, a former fair board president, and later as a member of the 4-H Club.

John, who grew up on a farm in what is now Roundout, recalls at age five going to his first county fair when it still traveled from one town to another each year. In 1956, the fair finally settled at its permanent site in Grayslake.

Some 60 years later, both are still involved in much of the behind-the-scenes unnoticed preparation that goes into making the fair a success.

One of the more ominous tasks that begins a month before the fair is cataloguing the thousands of entries in each of the contest categories.

"When you consider that one person might have 50 to 100 entries in one event, you can imagine how busy it gets," Mary says.

Entries in every category imaginable pass through the office where she works. From domestic exhibits, fine arts, floral, antiques, quilts, homemade preserves to the livestock, everything gets tagged.

"Someone has to do it," she quips. "If all this could be put on computer, it would revolutionize the whole fair."

It hasn't, though, and so the task is assigned to about eight women working long hours to see that no article is overlooked. At times, Mary says, a rain storm could sweep through the area without anyone noticing.

"There haye been some years I don't even get to see the fair," she chuckles.

John's work as a security guard, however, has kept him running all over the fairgrounds. From 6 in the morning until 7 at night, he and several other guards would cover the entire 60 acres making sure that nothing was amiss.

"In the early days, you had to walk the entire area," he said. "Today, using golf carts makes it a lot easier."

Aside from warding off an occasional fight between rowdy fair-goers, he reminisces about the escapades that occurred while he was security chief.

"One night, the ponies got the gate open and ran loose all over the place," he says. "They were finally rounded up after stirring up all the other animals."

On another occasion, a calf was born while he was on night shift.

Although he no longer patrols the grounds, John helps out with maintenance and set-up during the fair. He anticipates being around at the fair for many years to come.

"It gets in your blood," Mary joins in.

Longtime Fair Volunteers

When the Lake County Fair opens Wednesday, July 23, it's a sure bet Lake Villa residents John and Mary Haisma had something to do with it. Both maitain a lowprofile, doing a lot of the nitty-gritty work that often goes unnoticed by fair-goers.

Cooks To Share Favorite Recipes

Lakeland area cooks can share their favorite recipes in the culinary arts competition in the Lake County Fair. There are several categories of baked goods, including yeast breads, cookies, cakes and pies.

There is also competition in jams and jellies, canned and frozen vegetables and fruits, pickles, and homemade candy. Ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded for the top five finishers in each category.

Information about the competition may be obtained by calling the fair association at (312) 223-2204.

Arabian Horses Becoming More Popular

by BILL DOTSON

Arabian horses. To the layman, that phrase may bring to mind images of turban-clad shieks traversing the desert sands atop their fiery steeds.

Movies like "The Black Stallion" have helped to further the romanticized image of the breed. Noble, free-spirited, and mysterious, Arabian horses have long been associated with royalty and perceived as an exotic breed. To own Arabian horses was a rare status symbol, a sign that one is of a special class.

Even today, Arab mares may sell for anywhere from $200 to $250 thousand (or higher) and many top stallions are syndicated for millions of dollars. To own a share of Khemosabe, the leading living sire, costs about $20,000.

Nonetheless, it is a reality that Arabian owners are more common these days. The breed is becoming increasingly popular with "backyard breeders" in this area.

Three such backyard breeders can be found in Lakeland Newspapers' own backyard. Lakeland production dept. employees Marie Converse, Janet Lavey and Sue McDaniel own a combined total of eight horses, including two purebred Arabians and three which have partial Arabian heritage, as well as three other breeds including an Appaloosa, Quarterhorse and Thoroughbred.

The three women discussed the breed and its increasing popularity. They agreed that versatility is the key. "They can be mixed with any other breed," Converse explained. "With a horse that's part Arabian, you can have the stylishness of an Arab and the fine points of another breed."

"They can be used for just about any type of riding," Lavey added, "including English, western, hunting, jumping, dressage, racing, driving (fine harness) and endurance."

The three women also agree that backyard breeders like themselves have an advantage over the big breeders in being closer to their horses and knowing their personal characteristics. For example, McDaniel says one of her horses, Sana, will look at pictures of horses with her.

"I'll be looking at a picture of a horse in a magazine and sometimes she'll look over my shoulder and snort at it," she said.

Asked if its possible to get a purebred Arab for a decent price these days, the ladies responded yes, but the price depends on what the buyer is looking for.

"If you want just a basic backyard horse for your own pleasure and not for show," Converse said, "then $750 to $800 would be an average price for a good Arab. With some backyard breeders, you could probably even get one for $500."

Of course, the condition the horse is in would make a difference in the price. Last spring, McDaniel bought a horse which had been starved by its previous owner and paid $200. That horse has since been fattened up, but one thing to be careful of in buying a horse is that if there's a problem, it may not always be as obvious as that.

"Sometimes you can't tell what's wrong with a horse until after you buy it," Converse explained. So although prices may vary considerably, horse buyers should be careful. It may be a good idea to have a horse examined by a veterinarian before it is bought.

For show quality horses, however, one can expect to pay from around $1,000 to $5,000 and up, the women say.

Asked to describe some of the traits that set Arabians apart from other breeds, Lavey interjected, "We should point out first that each horse is an individual and every breed has its good points."

McDaniel agreed, saying, "We happen to be talking about Arabs now but some other breed may be better suited to a particular breeder's needs. For example, quarterhorses have been bred for cattle work."

One characteristic of Arabians, according to the three women, is that they are traditionally more intelligent due to their wider heads which allows for more brain space. Consequently, their eyes are also farther apart.

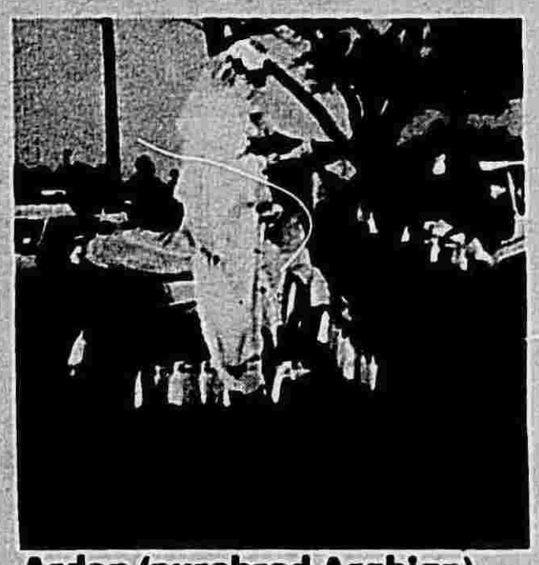

"They can't focus both eyes on something unless they look directly at it," Converse said. "A horse will move it's head all around to focus on something and get the best possible look at it."

The larger brain also provides for better memory. "Oh, they have very good memories," McDaniel said. "If you hit an Arab one time, it will remember. That's another thing about Arabs- you can't abuse them. They will strike back eventually. They're very hot-blooded."

Arabians may be more intelligent, but they're also more skittish. "An Arab may be the only horse to see and recognize its own reflection in a pond but it may also be the only one to shy away from it," Lavey said.

Traditionally, Arabs carry their tails higher than other horses. They also have one less vertebrae than any other horse, which is said to account for the smoothness of their gaits.

Arabians are distinguished by their large eyes and nostrils as well, features which are highlighted by oil when the (Continued on Page 27)

Barn Fire

Blaze Turns Dairy

by BILL SCHROEDER

Fire in the hay loft!

That cry of alarm turned an ordinary working day topsy turvy for Al Ames Jr., instantly riveting his attention on saving the lives of his prize herd of 58 purebred Holstein dairy cattle instead of hooking up the milking machine cups as the patient animals munched their evening rations.

Saturday, Jan. 18, in a matter of minutes life turned into a nightmare for the lanky dairy farmer and his wife, Gwen.

Miraculously, Ames and a helper were able to free the panic stricken animals from their stanchions and herd them to safety as flames spread through the huge wooden barn that was home for scores of Amestead Farm Holsteins for more than half a century.

Nearly in a state of shock, Gwen recorded on film the inferno that lit up the blmish-black winter sky over the 440 acre farm situated in the rolling countryside off Rte. 173 east of Hwy 41, Newport Twp.

In a matter of minutes, nine fire departments on both sides of the Illinois-Wisconsin stateline responded to battle the flames that threatened surrounding farm buildings and the proud brick home fronting on the highway that is marked by a sign with the figure of a dairy cow.

It took approximately 15 minutes to evacuate the cattle after the curly-haired life-long dairyman noticed smoke curling through the ceiling at 5:10 p.m.

"A grain storage area blocked off flames from the hay mow. That was the only thing that enabled us to get the cows out," Ames recalled.

Even as the embers of the once-stately barn built by the farmer's father and grandfather still continued to glow, neighborning farmers began arriving with trailers to haul the milk-laden cattle to temporary housing.

Ames described the moving operation as "something to see." "Word of the fire spread fast. Trucks with trailers started arriving and the cows were hauled to new homes. The last of the milking was finished by 10:30 that night," Ames related. In a matter of hours, 57 cows from a standing milking herd were relocated to five farms in Kenosha County and one in Lake County. One cow was lost in the flames when it darted back into the barn and injured a leg so severely that it couldn't be removed.

With their dairy cows safely tended, a whole new chapter in the lives of Gwen and Al began to unfold, a story of love of man, devotion, friendship and demonstration to two devout church members of a supreme being.

The tragedy at the Ames farm was announced Sunday morning at Antioch Evangelical Free Church where the Ames' belong and Gwen works part-time in the office. Chris and Karen Albert of Salem organized a massive clean-up party.

Volunteers began arriving from church, the surrounding area, members of the McHenry-Lake Holstein Club. "We didn't even know some of the people working to clean up the fire mess," remembers Gwen.

All in all, the work party grew to 60 persons. They brought their own food and tools. "We were blessed with a sunny and mild day for January," Al remarked. Just like an old-fashioned threshing bee, everyone pitched in and the fire debris was cleared away in a week.

Without milking chores, Al grew restless and frustrated. "I used to visit our cows every day. That grew less and less as the spring field work arrived," Al said.

Complications and red tape ensnarled the insurance adjustment as the couple pondered both their financial and lifestyle loss. When a dairyman doesn't have cows to milk, he doesn't have much of a life.

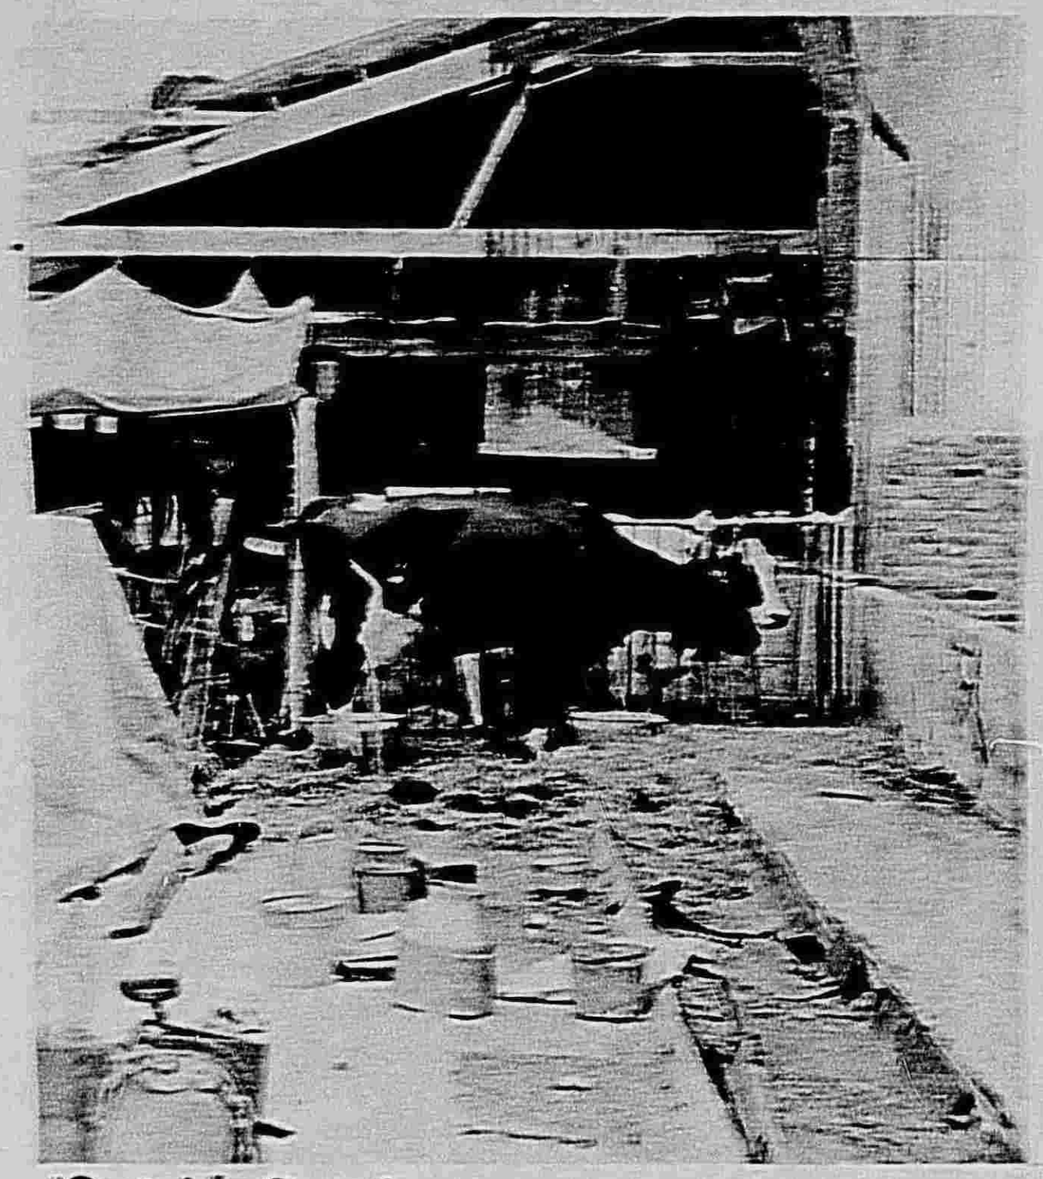

Both Gwen and Al battled periods of depression and frustration. Al described their feelings as "soul searching."

Gwen said that their faith and their friends have been pulling them through. "Our church has been most helpful. Our friends have been keeping in touch and keeping our spirits up. We appreciate their prayers and their support," she stated.

"We've always been told that God supplies needs. After the fire we were seeing that happen. We felt from our experience that God was telling us, "I care about you." Gwen recounted.

Talking about the painful aftermath of the fire prompted a chuckle from the friendly farm couple.

With no cows to milk, they said friends provided them with a week's vacation to Gwen's native state of California, their first time off in three years.

'Outside Barn'

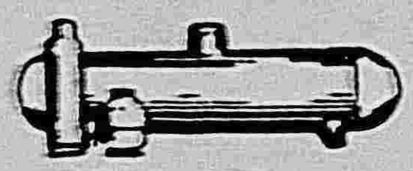

Amestead Farm holstein placidly chews her cud in makeshift housing following fire that destroyed barn with estimated damage of $200,000. Dairyman Al Ames Jr. milks handful of cows out-of-doors with portable equipment while bulk of his purebred herd is quartered at neighboring farms.

Devoted

Devoted to each other and dairy farming, Al and Gwen Ames credit their faith in God with being able to cope with adversity brought on by a tragic barn fire and subsequent red tape delaying reconstruction so they can get back in business.

Farmer's Life Into Nightmare

"Dry" cows–animals waiting to calve–didn't have to be moved. As they delivered their calves and began milking again, Al made arrangements in April to begin modest milking operations again from equipment that was salvaged.

Somewhat sheepishly, he described how he uses portable equipment. "I'm up to 10 cows now. I have to do the milking outside--even in the rain."

Normalcy slowly is returning to their lives. Al and Gwen are bouyed by the fact that they have signed a contract to build a state-of-the-art barn for their herd.

Al enthusiastically described a modern dairy barn with paneled exterior, insulation and no posts because it will be only one story. Hay will be stored in a separate building and delivered by conveyor. There will be 72 stalls, six boxes for calving, new water system and the most modern milk collection system available.

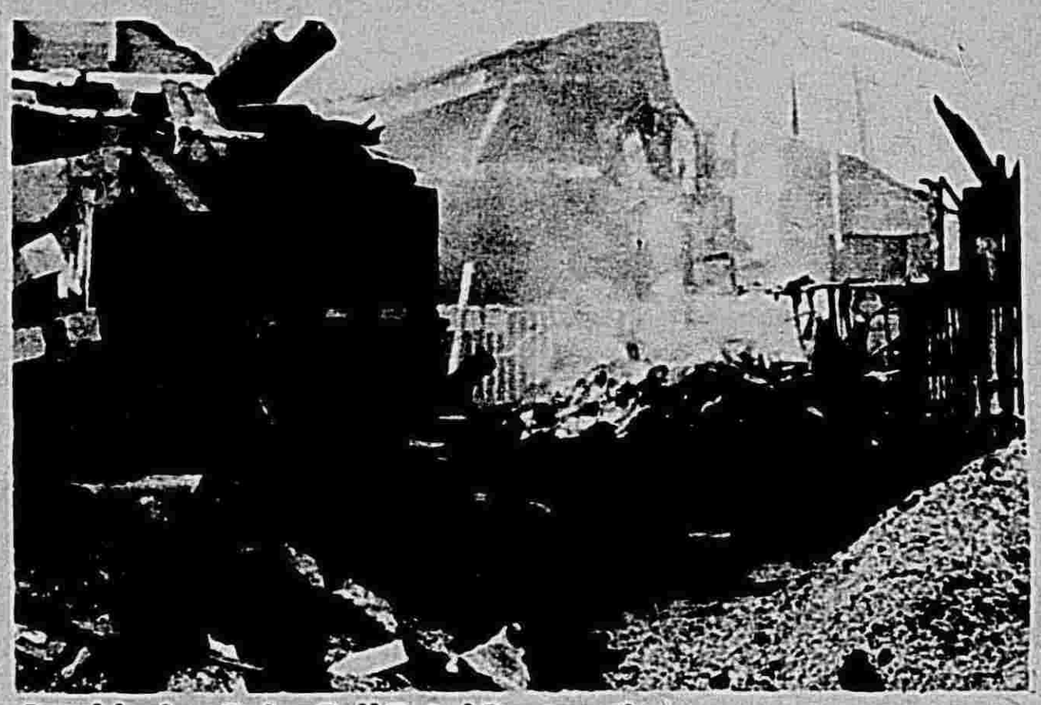

"I'm told it'll be the first dairy barn built in Lake County in more than 30 years and it'll probably be the last," Ames said as he noted that only a handful of dairy farms exist today in the rapidly urbanizing area.

Even in their darkest days, Al and Gwen never wavered in their determination to rebuild the barn, continue dairying and carry on a tradition going back to 1867 when the name Ames was established with dairy farming.

We've had a purebred herd for 60 years," Al emphasized. His resolution indicated that he aims to make sure the chain isn't broken.

What excites Gwen and Al about the future is knowledge that their friends and neighbors are itching to help build the new barn.

"We're going to have a regular old-time barn raising. Won't that be something? asked Al, a broad grin breaking across his weather-beaten face.

Barn Reconstruction

Al Ames Jr. checks on construction of new dairy barn as workmen prepare foundation for state-of-the-art barn to replace more than half century old structure destroyed in January fire. Replacement has been delayed by claim adjustment complications and legal red tape. Awaiting to reassemble his herd, Ames keeps busy with field work on 440 acre farm west of Zion in Newport Twp.

Auctioneer Savors 34 Years Of Excitement

by CHARLES JOHNSTON

Ever wonder if auctioneers go to a special school to learn to talk so fast? For Gordon Stade, who will serve as auctioneer at the Lake County Fair for the twenty-seventh consecutive time this year, school began as a child when his father took him to livestock auctions every week.

"It's just something that comes to you. I've never heard of any sort of school for it," Stade said. "My father was a meat buyer all his life and for as long as I can remember, I always went to the auctions with him.

"I used to ditch school to go. You can learn a lot more at auctions than you can at school. Of course, I guess they teach different sorts of things," he added.

A full-time auctioneer since 1952, Stade said it was the excitement of the business that led him to make a career of it.

Asked why they talk the way they do, he said it is part tradition, but that it also gives the crowd a feeling of action and helps bring a better price for the merchandise on the block.

Working a regular livestock auction once a week, Stade also works 100 special auctions each year, mostly farm, estate, and antique sales. In his 34 years in the business, he claims he has seen a few people get bargains but that he has never seen anything sell for much less or much more than its market price.

For people who want a tip on how to get a bargain at auction, the only advice Stade has is to "always be there.

"There's not much I can do to bring the price of something up," he said. " It all depends on the merchandise. Some items bring top dollar easy and on others, the bidding goes slower. If you want a bargain, though, you just have to always be there."

After 34 years, Stade still loves the excitement of the business, but is bothered by the lack of knowledge some people bring to livestock auctions.

"There are a lot of people coming out these days that seem to think that once you buy an animal at auction, you're going to have to put it on a truck and take it home that night," he said. "I'd like people to know that when they buy an animal, there are always processors right there who will do the trucking and butcher the animal for them. Once you buy an animal, you don't have to see it again until it is butchered and wrapped. So don't worry about whether you can get it home or not; you don't have to."

Other than that, auctioneering remains a labor of love for Stade. Ever the pitchman, he ended the interview by saying, "Make sure to come to the auction at the fair. I'll be looking for you."

...County Fair Complete Without Mounted Posse

...would a county fair be without a ...posse?

... Whiston, president of the Lake ...Mounted Posse, doesn't intend to

Aside from adding to the overall ambiance of the Lake County Fair, the mounted posse actually serves a practical purpose of keeping those at the fair inside their boundaries, and spectators outside the gates from climbing over.

Volunteers from the 100-plus member club will work different shifts throughout the week-long fair, scanning the fairgrounds as they have in year's past. Areas that they will concentrate on include the south end of the ground near the barns and the tractor pull.

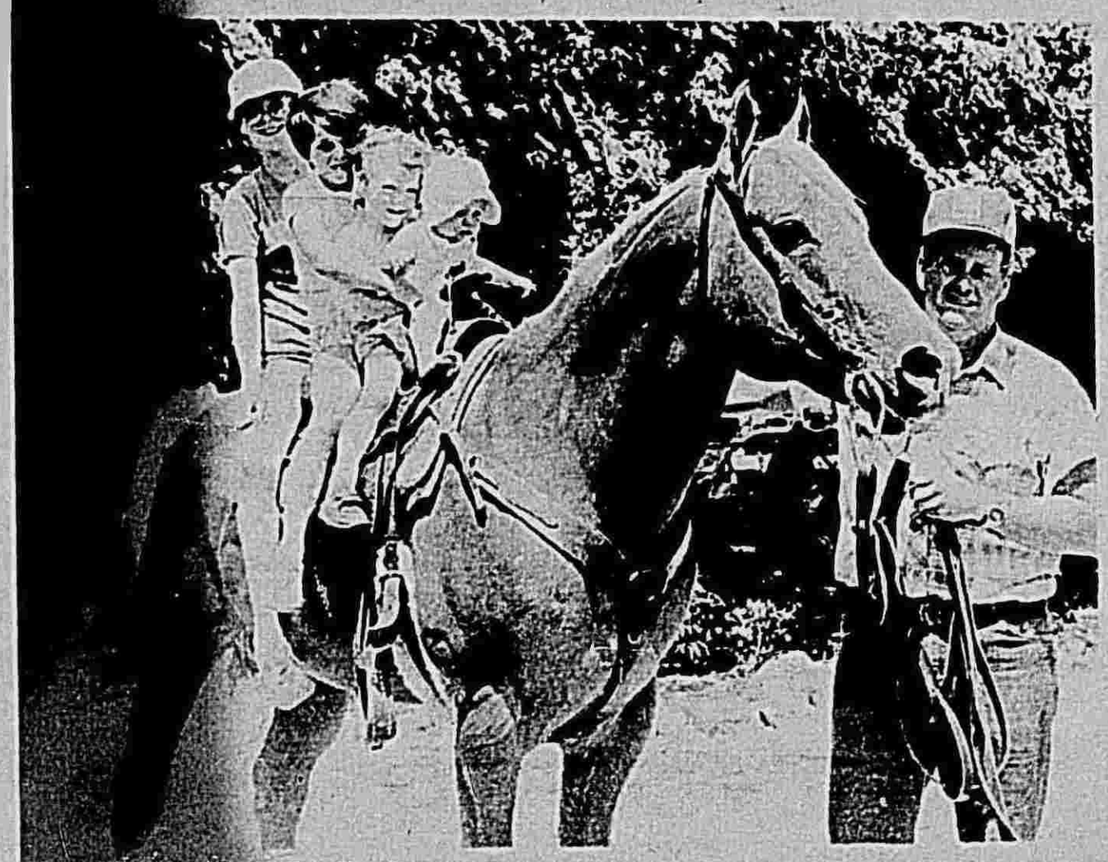

"We let people know we are keeping a watch over things," Whiston said.

But those most fascinated by the posse are curious youngsters who love to ask questions about the horses.

"A lot of people like to ask about the horses," he added.

The fair, however, is only one of many summertime activities for the posse. Trail rides, and special "Play Days" (similar to horse shows for members) draw participants of all ages.

"Our big event is the fall trail ride which is open to anybody," he said. The ride easily draws between 400 to 500 riders and usually ends up with a big steak barbeque at the Wadsworth farm of Temple Smith.

...lly A-Fair

...o ride horses at a tender age is a must if one is to grow up in the ...family. As president of the Lake County Mounted Posse, Gurnee ...Dennis Whiston sees to it that his daughters have ample opportunity to ...iding skills. The youngsters include Shawn, 13, Kelly, 7, Jennifer, 3 and ...-old Kimberly. Whiston's wife, Gerri, also rides.

Groups Taking Advantage Of Opening Day Special

What's more fun than going to the Lake County Fair?

Going to the fair with a group, as far as Gary Doolittle is concerned.

Doolittle, who is in charge of group arrangements for the Lake County Fair, says every year a few more groups and organizations take advantage of the fair association's standing offer of free admittance opening day and the day following for properly chaperoned designated groups.

Arrangements must be made in advance and meet association standards.

Doolittle, 35, is a dairy farmer who spends several weeks every year working in the fair office. He and his family operate Glenraven Farm, Rte. 173, Antioch, where they tend 58 milking cows from a total herd of 110. He described dovetailing fair and farm work as "pretty hectic, but fun." He's been at it 12 years.

This year, as in the past, the Lake County Fair will be attended by groups from day camps, nursery schools, nursing homes, park districts and inner city ethnic groups from Chicago.

"Our fair groups represent all ages. Handicapped persons are among those who enjoy most a day at the fair," Doolittle reported.

The visiting groups are provided special parking facilities. Then they are "on their own" to enjoy the exhibits and attractions as they see fit, according to Doolittle. Typically, chaperones have been briefed in advance to describe what's going on to group visitors with language difficulties.

"In a number of cases, the group visitors may never before have seen a live farm animal or been in a fair atmosphere so some explanation is necessary," Doolittle stated.

Doolittle can be contacted at the fair office at (312) 223-5192 for further details about group admission.

Tractor Pull Becomes A Family Outing

by STEVE PETERSON

What began as a daily chore with horses has turned into a fast-growing sport.

"The grandstands will be packed," Lake County Fair Supt. Dick Raftis said of the tractor pull.

The tractor pull event- with open vehicles pulling up to 9,000 pounds of sled - will be held three of the four days of the fair at the Lake County Fairgounds in Grayslake. Action gets underway at 8 p.m. July 23 with a tractor pull.

A new addition this year is a motorcross race set for July 24.

"Originally, the sleds were pulled by horses. Now the only ones with horses are the old professionals," Raftis said.

The tractor pulls, Raftis explained, are sanctioned by the Tri-State Assn, which covers Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri.

Raftis said vehicles are grouped by category by weight and age. Engines can be modified to provide up to 2,000 horse power, he said.

"Certified judges go to school each year and are tested on the rules and regulations," Raftis said.

Raftis said safety equipment has been improving over the years. The pit area where the tractors will be competing will be fenced in to protect spectators.

"Safety really has been improved. You can't protect the crowd 100 percent but we are constantly upgrading the track," Raftis said.

The bleachers will be 35 feet away from the pit area.

Work on the pit area has been underway for several weeks. Fair workers have used a road grader and soaked it down. The covers will not be removed until just before the events.

What makes people invest large sums of money to compete in tractor pulls?

"Most are in it for the thrill of it," Raftis said.

One of the contestants will be Round Lake resident Larry Scott.

Scott has been in tractor pulls for seven years. He placed fifth in a national circuit last year.

Scott said the tractor pull events are a family affair.

"This is a sport the entire family can be doing. Everyone is there with families, babies and kids," Scott said.

Scott's schedule in 18 summer weekends is comprised of traveling to and competing in the tractor pulls.

Scott said he makes 67 stops a year.

"The schedule is at the peak in the summer months," Scott said.

In addition to competing against other drivers, Scott competes against drivers with corporate sponsors.

The July 23 event features a sanctioned Class A pull with $1,600 in available prize money. Antique tractors will be competing at 7 p.m. in 1939 and older and 1950 and over divisions.

Motorcross day is July 24.

July 26 event's prize money is $3,5200. Super stocks and pickup pull events will be held. The events begin at 7 p.m.

The final day for tractor pull events will be July 27. Prize money will be $6,000. The Class AA event is scheduled to start at noon.

Truck And Tractor Pulls Are Popular

The tractor and truck pulling events at the Lake County Fair are among the fair's biggest attractions.

The Heavy Tractor Pull will be held on Sunday, July 27, at noon. It is sanctioned by the Illinois Tractor Pull Assn. and open only to ITPA members. The Farm Stock Tractor Pull, held after the Heavy Tractor Pull, is open to non-ITPA members.

The Tri-State 4WD Pick-Up Pull will be held on Saturday, July 26, at 7 p.m. The sanctioned contest is open to tri-state members only.

Persons entering the antique tractor pull need not be members of the ITPA, but ITPA rules will apply. This event will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, July 23.

Following the antique tractor pull will be a mini-rod pull at 8 p.m. Two of the three events are open to members of the Illinois Modified Tractor Pull Assn. only. One event is an open stock, non-sanctioned pull open to anyone.

Premiums will be paid to winners, ranging from a $400 first prize in the tractor pull to a $100 first prize in the antique pull.

Competing At The Fair

Larry Scott, of Round Lake, is shown competing in the tractor pull at the Lake County Fair. Dick Raftis, superintendent of the fair, said the tractor pull is growing in popularity and predicts big crowds again this year.

19 Contestants To Vie For 1986 Queen Title

Nineteen local queens from Lake County towns and villages will compete for the title of Miss Lake County Fair Queen on opening night of the Lake County Fair Wednesday, July 23. The pageant will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held on the WXLC Mainstage.

Contestants will be judged on beauty, poise, and personality. There will be four phases of the competition, including: interview, stage presence, bathing suit and evening gown.

Judges will choose Miss Lake County Fair 1986, and a first and second runner-up. Non-finalist winners will be named in each of the four phases of the competition. Contestants will select Miss Congeniality.

The winner will receive a $1,000 award from the Lake County Fair Assn. at the end of her one-year reign. She and the runners-up will also receive gifts supplied by local businesses, including: Mid-America Vacation Resorts (Round Lake), Suntan Center-North (Libertyville), Lewis Florists (Wildwood), Total Image Studios (Grayslake), and Trophies by Burkabee (Zion).

Contestants include: Tamara Kraus (Antioch), Donna Appel (Fox Lake), Charlotte Pierce (Grayslake), Debbie Winkler (Gurnee), Michelle Koskey (Lake Villa), Cheri Rose (Lake Zurich), Judy Logsdon (Libertyville), Donna Skrypnyk (Lindenhurst), Angela Gregory (Mundelein), Dawn Marie Foos (Park City), Jessica Rowe (Round Lake area), Helen White (Vernon Hills), Nina Zupec (Wadsworth), Cindy Messenger (Wauconda), Carolyn Yap (Waukegan), Tammy Falstad (Winthrop Harbor, and April Wright (Zion).

Ending her reign as Lake County Fair Queen will be Laura Jakubec of Cuba Twp., who went on to the state competition, where she earned first runner-up honors.

Original Scotch Lads To Appear July 23

The Original Scotch Lads, including Larry Leafblad, will appear on Wednesday, July 23, the first night of the Lake County Fair, as the opener for the fair queen pageant.

The concert will begin at 6:30 p.m. on the WXLC Mainstage. Following at 7:30 p.m. will be the fair queen pageant. Both are free and open to the public.

"I'm really excited about the concert," said Leafblad. "It's the 1975 members: Ray Trusky, Bob Schmidt, Jerry Kuta, John Vitale and myself. We all played at the Abbey in Lake Geneva for six years," he added.

Leafblad promises a great concert. "We're putting on a show--playing 60's and 70's music and some new stuff."

Weidner Enjoys Planning

When the Lake County Fair ends July 27, Ron Weidner's job begins.

"The planning for next year's fair begins when this year's fair ends," Weidner said.

Weidner, as president of the Lake County Fair Board, is charged with making sure the July 23-27 fair runs smoothly.

"My job is to take care of the commercial aspects; getting the buildings set up and laying out the roads," Weidner said.

Weidner, 38, said he expects to spend 15-hour days at the fair.

Weidner does not come into his administrative position without some sense of fair goers appreciate. A lifetime Lake County resident, Weidner has attended about 30 fairs at the Grayslake site.

Weidner is comleting his first term on the fair board.

"The biggest change is that Lake County has become more of a urban area as opposed to agricultural. We have to come up with things to appeal to urban people," Weidner said.

Weidner said this year's fair will have a "good mix" of events for all ages. A demolition derby, motorcross and rodeo and tractor pulls all appeal to the 20-40 age group. The traditional activities such as the Miss Lake County Fair Pageant appeal to a broad range of ages.

Weidner said the fair's attendance last year was about 150,000. "We've been holding at 150,000 for the last few years," Weidner said.

The fair's biggest attraction continues to be the Miss Lake County Pageant. Some 4,000 people attended the event last year.

Daily Horse Shows At Lake County Fair

Horse lovers will encounter a different horse event to enjoy every day of the Lake County Fair, July 23 through 27.

July 23, the first day of the fair, will feature the 4-H Pony and English Horse Show at 8 a.m. On Thursday, July 24, the 4-H Western Show is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m.

Friday, July 25, the special Youth Horse Show will start at 8 a.m. and on Saturday, July 26, there is the Open House beginning at 9 a.m.

The Appaloosa Horse Show starts at 9 a.m. on Sunday, July 27, the last day of the fair. The horse shows generally continue throughout the day.

Information about the competition may be obtained by calling the fair association at (312) 223-2204.

Competition To Cover Many Mediums

All artists are invited to enter the Lake County Fair's fine arts competition, which includes painting, photography, crafts and ceramics. Antiques and hobby collections are also part of the fine arts division.

In some areas, special categories are designated for professionals, amateurs, adults, high school and elementary school students.

horse is being prepared for show.

Lavey is the only one who plans to enter a horse in this year's Lake County Fair, although McDaniel has shown horses before. They discussed what is involved in preparing a horse for show.

"You have to begin working with them months in advance, teaching them to move certain ways," McDaniel said. "Subtle directions are important because in the ring, you have to make it look like the horse is doing it all by itself."

"You've got to look like you're having a good time out there," Lavey added. "If the judges think you're working with your horse real hard, they'll give you a low score because they think it means the horse isn't well trained."

More immediate preparations include having the horse's coat washed and groomed and having the feet trimmed. As previously mentioned, oil is applied to the nose and area around the eyes.

"This is done to highlight the nostrils and emphasize the size of their eyes," Lavey explained. "There is little hair in that area so it darkens the skin."

"Arabs have very dark skin, even the white-haired ones," McDaniel stated.

Upon arrival at the show, the trainer gets a number, and enters the horse in certain classes.

"There are over 40 different classes," Lavey stated,"but the three basic categories are halter, equitation, and pleasure. The horses are judged in a variety of areas such as confirmation (build), and their way of going."

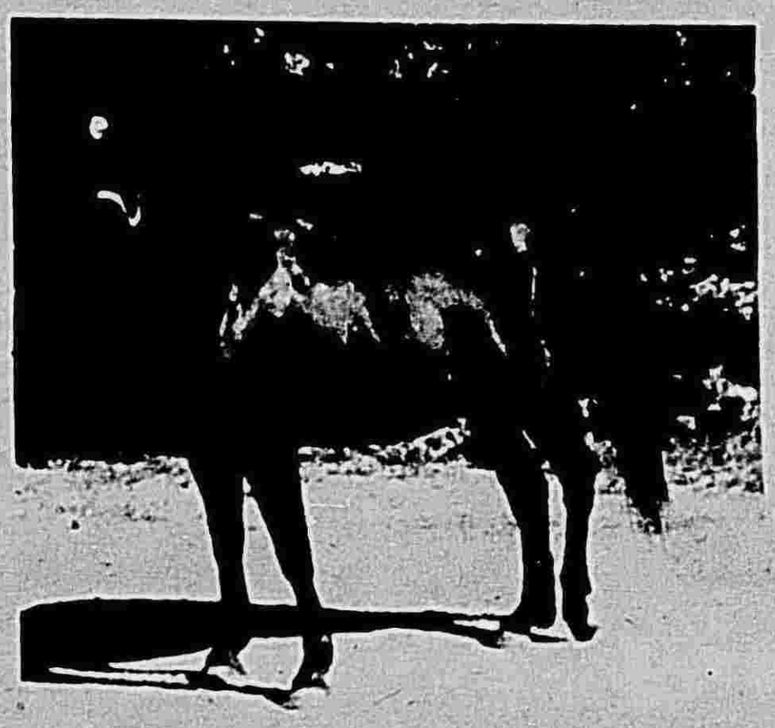

In performance, the women agree that it is a good idea to try to maintain about two horse lengths on each end of the horse in the ring. "But of course, its easier said than done," McDaniel said.

The key to success in the shows is to make it look effortless, as if the trainer has hardly had to do any work at all. If that is the case, then it is certain that the opposite is true- much care and effort has gone into the preparation for the show.

Although the sight of Arabians in county fair show rings has become quite common, when looking at the majestic animal, it can still be quite easy to picture it standing proudly on the dunes of the Sahara.

'Faireese' Spoken Here

by GLORIA DAVIS

With Lake County Fair time fast approaching, it's time to brush-up on "Faireese," or the lingo that will be tossed around the fairgrounds in Grayslake quite liberally between July 23 and 27.

Since farm animals are traditionally an important part of any county fair, a lot of those words and phrases will be easily recognized by anyone that is connected with agriculture and "carney" people will be familiar with some of the rest of our "faireese."

When animal stock credits are given and they say that a pig, or in "Faireese" a swine, is farrowed, they mean that the pig was born, usually used in reference to the date of the pig's birth.

A yearling is an animal that has passed its first birthday but has not yet celebrated its second.

When animals are put into the Get Of Sire class, it usually means four animals sired by the same sire with animals of both sexes represented.

A dam is an animal that celebrated Mothers Day and those that are put into a Produce of Dam classification are two does produced by the same dam.

Animals and other exhibitors that have been blessed with Grand Champion ribbons have been awarded the top prize in their total category, while Reserve Champions are entrants that have taken the highest next prize or as they say in beauty contests, they are the first runners-up.

Best of Breed, means just what it says and Best of Show, means the top award given to animals entered in a particular department.

A market animal is one that has been raised to be sold for butchering, while those in other classes may or may not be sold for breeding purposes.

Suffolks, Hampshires, Dorsets and Columbias are breeds of sheep, just as heifers are cows that have not produced calves yet.

A barrow is a swine that has been castrated, just as a wether is a sheep of the same ilk.

A poulter is very young pigeon and is sometimes used in refering to other breeds of fowl.

If one is perusing the flower displays, they may come across one of Hogarth design. This means that the shape of a flower arrangment is done in a cyma curve, modeled after designs created by the famed 17th century artist Willam Hogarth.

Those that hang around the art display, soon learn that paintings in the aqueous category are those that deal with seascapes.

Equitation is a display of horsemanship.

Showmanship awards usually are given for the prowess of the person that is showing an animal.

The midway is the people place part of the fair. It's the strip where one will find carnival rides, games of chance and maybe even some some people-oriented entertainment.

"Dis is da place" also where fairgoers can "pig-out" snow-cones(crushed ice, saturated with flavored syrup), cotton candy, giant "affy tapples"(candy apples), "brats", red hots(no other hot dog like it), corn dogs(hot dogs deep-fried in a corn meal batter), and the best treat of all, hot buttered corn-on-the-cob eaten right out of the husk.

Babcox To Defend Hog-Calling Title

The Lake County Fair's Eighth Annual Politicians' Hog-Calling Contest is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Friday, July 25 on the WKRS CenterStage.

Defending champion Lake County Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox expects some tough competition this year in his battle to retain the hog-calling title.

"When you're on top, there are lots of people who want to take shots at you. Of course, there are no mayors who are capable of beating me—it will probably take some loud-mouthed county official," he said.

The contest is open to mayors of Lake County municipalities, elected county-wide officials, township superintendents, and to federal and state legislators who represent districts in Lake County.

Burnell Russell is coordinating the hog-calling contest and promises that newcomers to the competition will receive instruction in hog-calling before the contest begins. A trophy will be awarded to the grand champion and the reserve champion. Participation ribbons will be presented to other contestants.

by GLORIA DAVIS

Lake County Fair time is "My Fair Family" time at the Pete Tekampe farm, outside of Grayslake on Peterson Rd. near Rte. 60.

Pete, who is the president of the Lake County Farm Bureau, has taken an active part in the county fair since he started farming on his own in 1960.

This year Pete is the assistant supervisor of the tractor pull, working under Dick Raftis in properly preparing the track so that it will hold-up under three days of hard use by antique tractors, modified and stock, super stock and pro stock tractors, as they kick up the turf in their efforts at tremendous weight pulling.

Time was when Pete was right in there with the best and the biggest of them, having garnered his share of first prize winnings in the event that he now helps run.

Marcene, the lady of the Tekampe household, is busy helping the kids with their 4-H projects now and working with the farm bureau's women's committee, manning the bureau's booth.

But she has put her best pots and pans forward by entering culinary creations from the Tekampe kitchen in the fair's food section in past years.

Some of her sewing prowess also saw the judges prize lists.

The three Tekampe offspring, Susan, 18, Amy, 14 and Peter, 10, are hoping to win some more prize money this year with the steers that they will show in the market steer category.

All the money that the kids win at the fair goes into a fund for their college educations.

The Tekampe name has been a well-known name in farming circles in Lake County for over 100 years. Pete's uncle is still running the centennial farm, near his dad's farm, not too far from the 550 acre(farms 1,100 acres) that Pete and his family have called home for 26 years.

From 1969 to 1970, Pete was the chairman of the farm bureau's young farmers' committee and then he sat on the farm bureau board until 1977. He has been the bureau's president for three years.

The Lake County Farm Bureau has been working along with the state group to get legislation passed capping the dollar amount that can be payed against insurance claims in order to bring insurance premiums down and lower that cost for area farmers.

"Farmers are in serious financial condition all over the nation. We can't do much about low produce prices, we are trying to get operating prices down," said Tekampe.

He added that Lake County farmers are in better shape than many because they haven't suffered the decline in their property values like farmers in other states have.

The bureau is also working on getting a tax assessment rejuvenation so that farmers are more fairly taxed on the productivity of their land using an index system.

Tekampe, besides being a grain and cattle farmer, raising market beef, derives certified seed from his own grain which he sells to augment his farming income. He is a member of the Ill. Crop Imrovement Assn.

In addressing the dangerous farm problems, especially now that produce imports have outweighed produce exports for the first time in history, Trekampe says, "Americans, who pay the least for food of any other country in the world per capita, have got to realize that they can't continue to have cheap food and retain the family farmer."

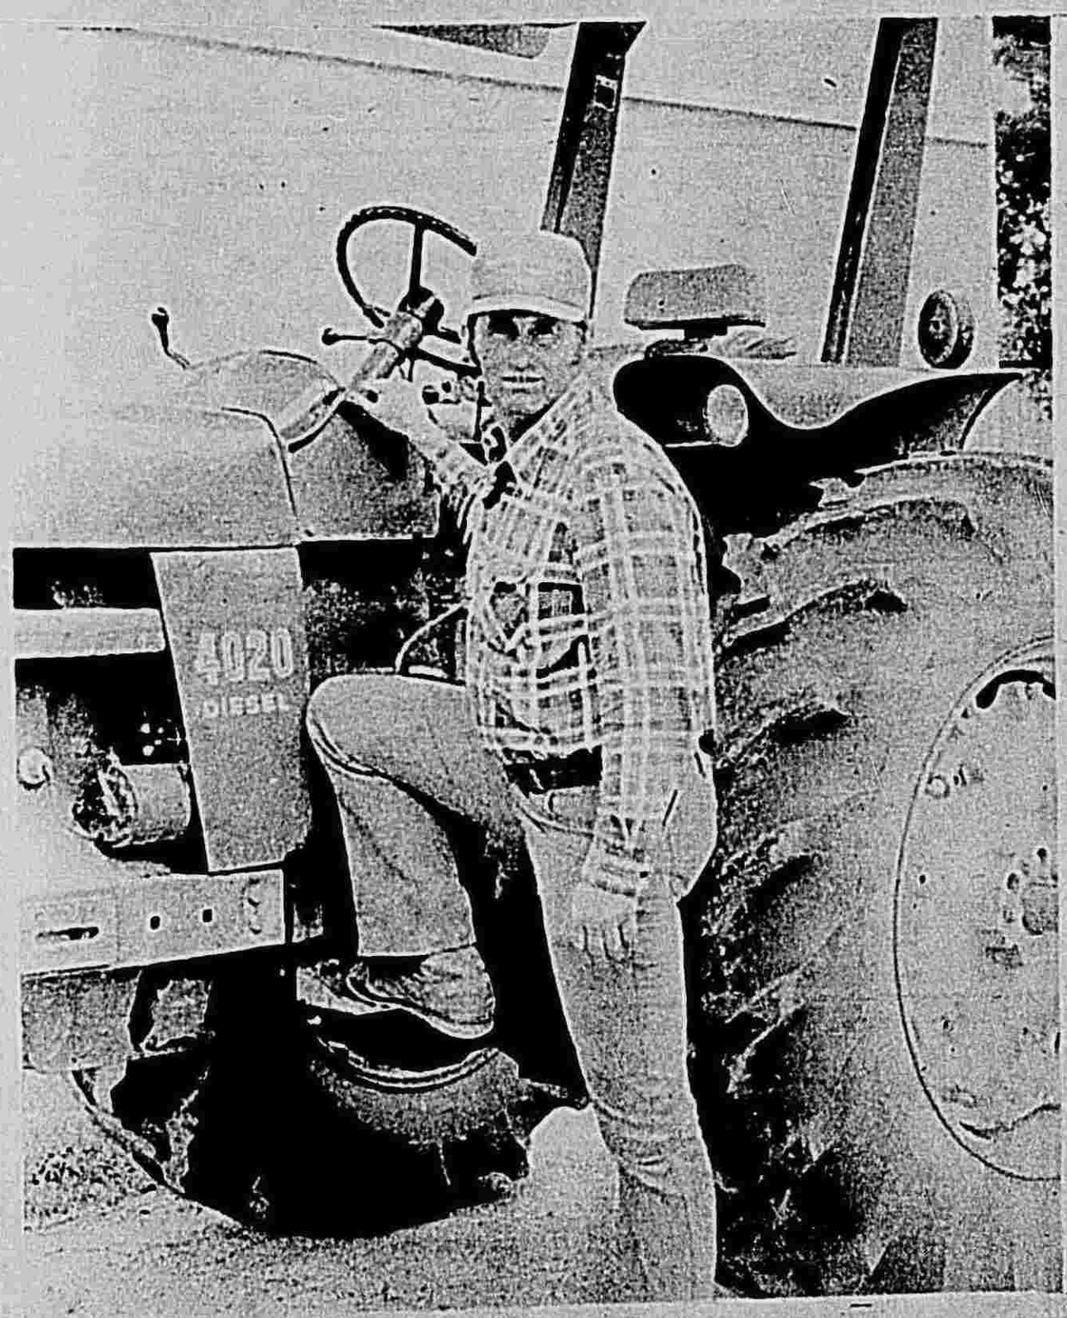

He adds that if the family farmer becomes obsolete, the corporations will be able to control all the produce prices and price will no longer be an object, but a way of making a larger profit for the big agricultural concerns.

Tekampe says that he feels for farmers this year since very few will show a profit from the harvest of the crops they now have planted in the ground.

'Steering' Things Up

The Pete Tekampe family is busy getting a market steer ready for showing at the 1986 Lake County Fair. Peter, 10, left, Amy, 14, get a little help from dad, Pete, in getting Sugar ready for the fair. Sugar is a 950 pound crossbreed steer, angus and herford, one of many the Tekampe children will be showing with the 4-H at the fair.-Photo by Gloria Davis.

Lion's Share Of Profit Goes To Help Others

For over 20 years, one of the first booths visitors to the Lake County Fair see is the Waukegan Lion's Club food tent near the east entrance. Visitors to the fair this year will again be able to get hamburgers, cheeseburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks, coffee, milk, and potato chips at the familiar booth.

Unlike most food concessions at the fair, money spent at the Lion's booth will be used to help others.

"The fair is our primary fund-raising event each year," said Lion's President Harry Doyle. "With ideal weather we can net anywhere between $10,000 to $12,000."

The money that the club makes is used for several different projects. One of the main beneficiaries is the Eye Research Foundation of the Illinois Medical School.

"They are making some incredible break-throughs that I think are going to amaze people in the next few years," Doyle said.

Among the local projects that the Lions support are the YMCA building fund, girls' and boys' baseball, and park district programs.

Getting the job done at the fair is quite a task for everyone. With about 50 members, the club manages to get over 100 people working in the booth at different times during fair week.

"Most all of the members help," Doyle said, "and then we get out the wives, kids, grandkids, and girlfriends."

The project that has Doyle most excited for the coming year is a joint effort by the Lions International and Quest to teach children how to resist peer pressure. He said that it is a pilot program that will be conducted at the Jack Benny School in Waukegan. Students between the ages of 11 and 13 will be counseled on how to reject the pressure of peers to try drugs and alcohol.

"This is the sort of thing that can help a lot of children. I think it is one of the most exciting and promising things we have done," Doyle said.

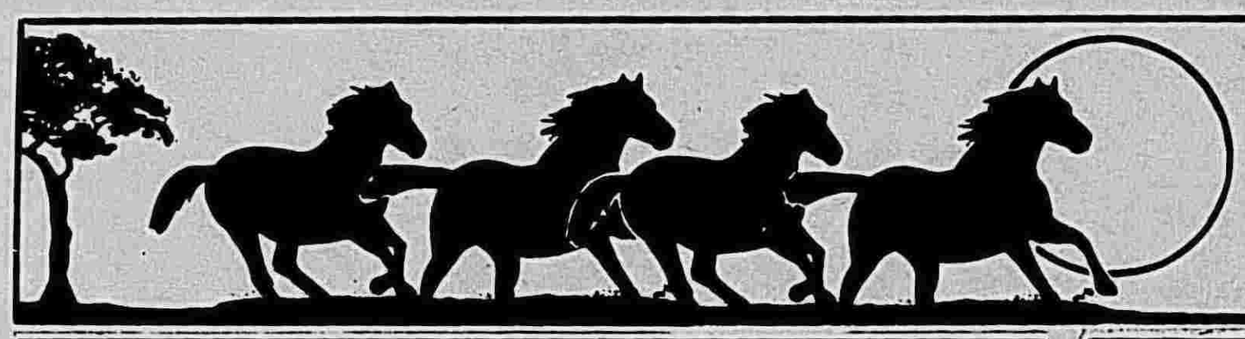

At the fair, there are many traditional foods that just can't be passed up: corn dogs, cotton candy, and elephant ears among them. Don't forget, though, that a dollar spent at the Lion's booth is a dollar that will help someone else.

A Taste Of The Old West At County Fair

Professional Contest Rodeo will be at the Lake County Fair for three performances on Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26. Contests will include bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, bull riding and cowgirls' barrel racing.

The International Professional Rodeo Assn., which sanctions professional rodeos in the United States, calls the Professional Contest Rodeo held at the Lake County Fair one of the "oldest and most prestigious rodeos in the IPRA." The rodeo is produced by the Big Hat Rodeo Company and owner Rudy Calzavara of Spring Grove.

Rodeo performances are scheduled for Friday, July 25, at 8 p.m. and for Saturday, July 26, at 2 and 8 p.m.

Horse Breeder Jack Roth Equipped For Fair Job

By GLORIA DAVIS

Jack Roth, Libertyville, who has been in harge of both the Youth Horse Show and he Open Horse Show at the Lake County Fair for five years, finds that his is a year round job.

"I almost move to the Lake County Fair grounds while the fair is in progress and when it's over we start right away working on next year's fair," said Roth.

Roth, his wife Diane and his son Jim, keep themselves pretty busy all year raising quarter horses.

He has been involved in horse rearing for 30 years, giving him an extremely creditable background, not only for his county fair job, but as a judge at horse shows taking place all over the country.

"I had to drop out of judging, it was taking me away from home almost 26 weeks a year," said Roth.

He has also served as a county fair director for the last two years.

His wife Diane works right along with him, not only as far as the fair is concerned(she handles a lot of the paper work) but also in taking care of their own eight quarter horses.

Son Jim, 26, comes by his love for horses naturally, having beeen raised with them.

According to Roth, the Youth Horse Show averages about 15 participants, the riders under 18-years old, in each of the 25 classes usually entered.

Entries in the Open Horse Show run about the same.

Among the things that the riders and their horses are judged on are showmanship(horses shown at halter), horsemanship(riding western style), equitation(riding English style)and how well they do in the special games.

Riding carrying an egg in a spoon without dropping the egg is no easy trick, ask some of those who participated in the fair's horse shows last year.

The Lake County Open Youth Horse Show is open to all youth and 4-H members from any county or state. It takes place no matter what the weather.

This year the youth show starts promptly at 8 a.m. on Friday, July 25. The entry fee is $3 per class, except Class 7 and a trophy and six ribbons are awarded in each class, except Class 7(open dollar bareback and pleasure,rider supplys the dollar and the winner of this event takes all.)

A total of $714 in prize money will be given away, with first place in each class winning $10.

Riders of any age can enter the Open Horse Show which is scheduled to start(rain or shine), at 8 a,m, on Saturday, July 26.

A total of $1,725 will be awarded. Entry fees for halter-showmanship are $3 per entry and in the performance category, $5.

A trophy and six ribbons will be given away in each class.

First prize in the halter class will be $20 and first prize in the performance classes will be $25. There are 25 classes in lot one, three in lot two-halter and 19 performance classes.

Horse of any all all breeds, from Arabians to Morgans can be entered in both shows.

Companies Sponsor Fair Events

Three Lakeland area companies are providing sponsorship for events at this year's Lake County Fair.

Mid-America Vacation Resorts, Round Lake, is the sponsor of the Miss Lake County Fair Queen Pageant. This is Mid-America's first year as a sponsor. As a sponsor of the pageant, Mid-America Vacation Resorts will be donating a satin jacket for each contestent. In addition, they will award each of the five finalists a five-inch color television set.

The pageant will be held on Wednesday, July 23, at 7:30 p.m. on the WXLC Mainstage.

The talent contest is sponsored by Grayslake National Bank and Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn. of Lake County. Their sponsorship comes as direct funding for contest-related expenses and prizes. Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn. sponsored the contest for the first time in 1984. Last year's contest was sponsored by the Premier Bank group of which Grayslake National Bank is a member.

The final competition for the talent contest will be held on Thursday, July 24 for the junior division, Friday, July 25 for the senior division, and Saturday, July 26 for the adult division. Each begins at 8 p.m. on the centerstage at the fairgrounds.

"The Lake County Fair has always been a spectacular event, but with the recent increase in business sponsorship it has become even better," said Walter Krumrey, fair secretary.

The Lake County Fair Assn. is an independent, not-for-profit corporation and does not receive funding from local taxes.

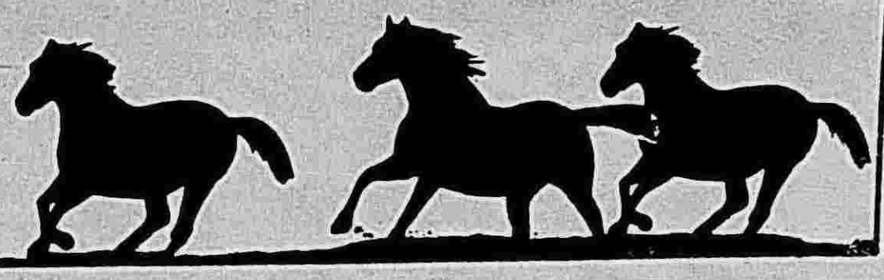

Gardeners Have Choice

The Lake County Fair has one of the largest agricultural products competition in Illinois. Whether it's flowers or vegetables, each year more gardeners are growing their products for competition.

Gardeners may compete in several categories: Agricultural Products (including vegetables), Horticulture (fruits), Floriculture (floral arranging, potted plants, cut flowers, etc.) and Garden Club displays.

Entry deadlines vary by show. Information about the competition may be obtained by calling the fair association at (312) 223-2204.

Letter To The Editor

Saving Lives

Editor:

Regrettably, commments of Nancy Ross in your "letter to the editor column" do not appropriately address the problem of what is needed in medical delivery systems in Lake County.

The Chicago Medical School Hospital is being created to bring high tech medical care to Lake County residents (Tertiary Care and a Trauma 1 Center).

The cost to you is nothing. Private money will build the hospital.

The principle reason for the new hospital is very simple — lives will be saved, and this is a proven fact.

The small percentage of the public led by the area hospital administrators that hold your position, regrettably base their thoughts on pure selfishness. They seem deathly afraid of any competition which the new hospital incidently wouldn't create.

In actuality, the hospital administrators are really afraid of losing key personnel to the more prestigious university hospital.

I doubt very much if you'd take your car to Madison or Milwaukee for repairs, but if you wish to take your child to Madison, Milwaukee or Chicago for repairs, that's your business.

However, 90 percent of Lake County residents prefer to have our own medical delivery systems here.

Ill. Bell Announces New Switching Centers

Illinois Bell has proposed to expand its high-speed switched digital data transport service--Ameritech Switched Data Network (ASDN)--to five more switching centers in the Chicago area, as well as in Springfield and Champaign.

Currently offered from only one switching center in downtown Chicago, ASDN offers 56-kilobits-per-second switched digital data transport to business and Centrex customers--without expensive private lines and modems.

"ASDN, previously called Public Switched Digital Service, was originally developed to allow smaller businesses to enter an information market in a way they previously couldn't afford," said Jamey Stanley, Illinois Bell product manager.

ASDN uses a regular business exchange line or a Custom Centrex line, avoiding the costly installation of a special private line.

"When a dedicated line is impractical or cannot be cost-justified, ASDN is an economical alternaive for users with digital information transport needs," Stanley said.

He also said that the system is more flexible than a dedicated private line, allowing customers with the service to hook up with any other ASDN subscriber in the area.

Rates for ASDN are usage sensitive. After a low monthly fee, customers pay for only the time they actually use the service. Calls between ASDN-equipped Custom Centrex lines in the same Centrex group will not incur any per call usage charges.

"This not only helps small businesses control costs, but makes ASDN an affordable backup for large customers with dedicated lines," Stanley said.

According to the product manager, ASDN increases the data transmission speed on conventional telephone lines by about 13 times. It can be used for numerous digital services, including: bulk data transfer, disaster recovery, private line backup, slow-scan and motion video conferencing, graphics, facsimile transmissions (in four seconds rather than 20 or more seconds), high fidelity sound and encrypted voice.

Pending Illinois Commerce Commission approval, customers served by the switching centers where ASDN will become available will have direct access to the service.

Hess-Litwiler Battle Keys On Avon Outcome

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

Democratic County Clerk Linda Hess of Gurnee is seeking reelections to a second four-year term in the Nov. 4 election. Presently, Hess is the only Democrat occupying countywide office. Her GOP opponent is Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler of Ingleside. Four years ago, Hess defeated Republican Harry Thomas of Libertyville by 355 votes out of 111,187 ballots recorded in the race.

Mrs. Litwiler's candidacy is being sponsored by Lake County Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox's political machine. Both Litwiler and Babcox are residents of Dist. 4, which includes Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa in western Lake County. Litwiler has served on the county board for the past six years. Will the Babcox forces be able to mobilize the Dist. 4 vote for Litwiler in the fall election Will Litwiler's "favorite daughter" status benefit her campaign in Dist. 4

Four years ago, Hess lost Dist. 4 by only 714 votes to Thomas. Hess garnered 48 percent of Dist. 4 vote, and carried both Avon and Lake Villa Twps.

See adjoining table for Dist. 4 election returns for the 1982 county clerk's race:

TWPS.	HESS (D)	THOMAS (R)	MAJORITY
Antioch	1,906 (45.0%)	2,326 (55.0%)	R. 420
Avon	2,945 (51.9%)	2,734 (48.1%)	D. 211
Grant	1,508 (42.1%)	2,071 (57.9%)	R. 563
Lake Villa	2,035 (50.7%)	1,977 (49.3%)	D. 58
Total Vote	8,394 (48.8%)	9,108 (52.0%)	R. 714

Will Linda Hess be able to neutralize the Babcox organization, her challenger's "favorite daughter" status and the Republican tradition in western Lake County? The Hess vote must increase in Avon, the most populous township in Dist. 4. The massive migration of Chicagoans and Hispanics into Avon Twp. has transformed the Round Lake communities into the most powerful Democratic region in western Lake County. In addition, Mrs. Litwiler has alienated many Avon Twp. Republicans, including County Board Rep. Norm Geary of Grayslake.

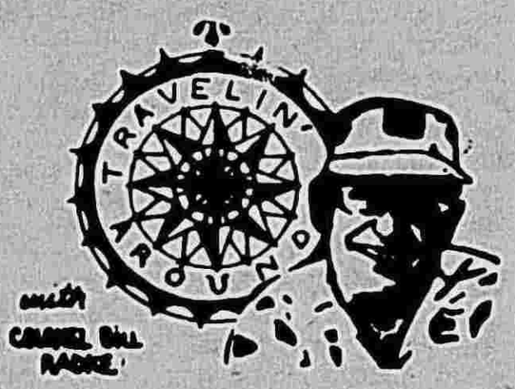

Geary is the dean of the Dist. 4 Representatives with 22 years of service on the county board. Geary has criticized Litwiler's performance in office. He claims: "Litwiler's County Board record is terrible. She has yet to be to a meeting on time. If she is elected Lake County Clerk, she will have to hire someone to run the office."

Geary isn't expected to issue a public endorsement of Hess' candidacy because he is seeking reelection on the Nov. 4 ballot. Avon Twp. Clerk Virginia Harrington is openly supporting Hess' reelection. Harrington is Geary's closest political associate. It is unlikely that Harrington would have endorsed Hess without Geary's approval. Hess will need a combination of Grayslake Republicans and Round Lake Democrats to carry Avon Twp. in the fall contest.

State Of Oregon Offers Surprising Combination

The northwest coast of Oregon is a surprising combination of scenery, sunshine and friendliness. U.S. Rte. 101, between Astoria, Oregon's farthest northern city, south to Garibaldi, covers about 20 percent of the coastal drive. It is rated as the most scenic coastal portion by localites.

To a stranger, it is marvelous. Jagged rock formations erupt from the shallows like spearheads. Morning fogs drift low and provide invisibility to shoreline cliffs. Beaches of tan sand, almost white in the sun, extend for miles connecting interesting bays between small towns and villages.

Salty airstreams surging from the west have been washed by miles of sun and water and arrive pure and untainted. Towering pines point skyward on slopes of sharp rising hills, like fingers directing attention to higher background mountains.

With little Garibaldi as home base, we spent the first morning clamming, by climbing over rocky outcroppings to beaches bared by eight foot tidal changes. It was super lowtide time of year. Previously untouched bottom areas can be prodded with forks, rakes and shovels for tasty shellfish and clams.

The top 3-4 inches produce...it's not hard work. Clamming can be done all year and clammers come from distant states to experience the scenery and fine food. No license is required. Beginners share success as they rub shoulders with the experienced...20 clams is the daily limit.

Garibaldi's population doubles to 2500 during the summer fishing season as sturdy, ocean going charter sportfishing boats mix with commercial fishermen and private craft. We met at 5:15 a.m. for breakfast in the Troller' Restaurant, Garibaldi's Fisherman's Wharf, off Timmamook Bay. Their well protected harbor belied the Pacific Ocean 30 mile winds that developed.

Our early a.m. deep sea bottom fishing venture left on time despite the red small craft warning flag. Rain and pitching seas shortened our 18-mile schedule to six as the blow continued. Fishing anglers dropped from five to three as two succombed to seasickness...which left them without interest or breakfast. For three hours our 48-footer, Big G, worked close to shore. This shortened trip produced 28 bottom feeders, mostly black rock bass in the three to four pound category, smattered with a ling cod, sea trout and flounder. My prize, a 3.5 lb. caprazon, was a first for me and the only one caught that day. He's a fierce looking creature who bristles fin and feelers to resemble a male lion.

More than a fishing village, Garibaldi and nearby Tillamook have lush pastureland that produce dairy products including cheese and ice cream. They call themselves the area of Cheese, Trees and Ocean-Breeze.

Salmon season is now open in Oregon. It was from these waters that some of our first salmon eggs were flown midwest for the implanting program now flourishing in Lake Michigan.

Details of this interesting coatal area are available from the Garibaldi Chamber of Commerce, Box 5, 97118. Broader state information may be initiated by a toll free call to the Tourism Division, 1-800-547-7842...and could be part of an EXPO '86 visit to nearby Vancouver, Canada.

Promoting Child Safety

Joe Gutowski (top left), governor of the Antioch Moose Lodge, and John Gipson, member of the Moose, display a babysitter information sheet that the Moose has introduced to the Antioch Police Dept. The sheet (bottom) gets all pertinent information about children to reduce the risk of emergency while staying with a babysitter. Gipson got the idea for the sheet when he saw something similar in Lake Bluff and Lake Forest. The sheets are available at the village hall, Chamber of Commerce office, Moose Lodge, police department, and the library. Police Chief Miller will have the sheets distributed by 'Officer Friendly' in the fall.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) Not to fret, Lamb. Those shadows that seem to obscure the sunlight are just shady spots offering some welcome relief from a heated situation.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) A partnership offers continuing opportunities. Kin provide close support. Your efforts begin to pay off as results start coming through.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) You may have to postpone part of your travel plans until unforeseen complications are worked out. Use this time to make new business contacts.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) Take care to temper your temperament when a business associate complicates an on-the-job problem. Handle the situation coolly and calmly.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) It's a good period for family-proud Leos and Leonas who take pride in strong domestic ties. Seek out and repair weakened relationships.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 22) Entertainment is high on your list these days. You'll be welcoming guests and accepting bids to attend various functions. Good contacts come through for you.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22) Don't give up yet. Those apparently strong arguments against your stand have some unseen holes. Search them out and rebuild your own case.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Offer on-the-job advice only when asked. Otherwise, let things settle down to normal lest you get lost in the current round of confusion.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) In spite of denials, your instincts are right. A temporary coolness has set in in an important relationship. Let it thaw on its own.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An adversary pushes his/her weight around. You could get crushed in the competitive rush. Choose fancy side-stepping instead of direct confrontations.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) New demands on you compete with long-treasured values. Be careful about any trade-off you make. The results may not be worth the effort.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) A former friend wants a reconciliation. Be sure you talk out all resentments. Keeping a lid on still simmering grudges can lead to a new explosion.
